Youth releases airline pilot

HONOLULU (UPI) — A young man held a large nail to the head and neck of an Eastern Airlines captain for almost four hours inside a DC-8 jetliner at Logan International Airport today and demanded $10,000 ransom "for the poor" before surrendering.

The unidentified youth, believed to be in his late teens or early 20s, was taken from the plane by a swarm of law enforcement officials after he had been frisked and handcuffed.

Officials said the captain, Lewis E. Whitaker, 35, a much decorated World War II Navy veteran, suffered superficial wounds on his face and right shoulder.

Finch victor

KANSAS CITY, MO. (UPI) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch, who spent 12 years in California prisons in connection with the murder of his estranged wife, won a court fight Tuesday to practice medicine in Missouri.

Finch will take up general practice in Eldorado Springs, the small southwest Missouri community where he had been working as a hospital x-ray technician since his parole in 1974.

GOP chairman named China envoy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican National Chairman George Bush has been chosen to become U.S. envoy to China, party sources said today.

Mary Louise Smith of Des Moines, Iowa, currently co-chairman of the national committee, will replace Bush and Richard D. Olenchak will become her assistant. It was learned Olenchak currently is chairman of the Virginia Republican party.

G.A. Erhardt, TF pioneer, dies

FILER — George A. Erhardt, 55, pioneer Twin Falls County resident, died Tuesday in Twin Falls.

Mr. Erhardt had farmed in the Filer area for more than 50 years. Born in Iowa, he came to the Filer area in 1924. He was instrumental in laying out the city of Twin Falls. He came to the Magic Valley from North Dakota.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday in Twin Falls with burial in Filer.

Aid sought in Hill search

SMITHS FERRY — Aid from Mountain Home Air Force base was sought today by Valley County officers searching for J. E. Hill and his wife, Tina Hill, Twin Falls, believed to have drowned Friday afternoon.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Lyle Wood in Valley County said today some discussion has been given to use of a helicopter along the swift Payette River where the Hill vehicle was recovered Saturday.

Air Force personnel will search on foot from Smiths Ferry to Blanks and some efforts are being made of the Black Canyon Reservoir near Emmett.

At hearing

GENEVA (UPI) — Pinckney Bernard Corfield attended a pre-trial hearing Tuesday into his part in the collapse of the Investors Overseas Services mutual fund empire.

Corfield has been free on $1.7 million bail since April 5 after spending more than a year in prison awaiting trial on charges of fraud and mismanagement of public money.

Mansfield wants Nixon fund checked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said today that the $50,000 sought for former President Nixon's pension and transition expenses should be "looked at most carefully."

President Ford has asked Congress to appropriate the money to pay for Nixon's pension and his office, postage and travel expense over the next 10 months.

Equador will lead Cuba the bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ecuador has indicated it would be willing to take the organization on re-establishing hemisphere ties with Cuba if the Conference of American States meeting here this week approves.

Such a conference of foreign ministers would probably be held in November, after the U.S. congressional elections, diplomatic sources said Tuesday.

Oil output cutback proposed

VIENNA (UPI) — Economic advisers to the world's major oil-producing nations have decided to recommend a cutback in production to keep petroleum prices high, it was disclosed today.

'East End Day' opens TF Fair

By MARJORIE LIEMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — The Twin Falls County Fairgrounds opened its gates this morning for the 58th annual county fair, which promises to be the largest and best in fair history.

Perfect fall weather greeted early arrivals, who began streaming into the grounds for East End Day. Murtough, Hansen and Kimberly schools were dismissed at noon and stores were closed so students and employees could attend the fair.

The theme "Hi Neighbor" is being carried out this year in Grange exhibits, merchants exhibits and special exhibits and typifies the relaxed mood which marks this year's two-day fair.

Opening events included judging of horses in the horse arena, with winners to be selected from Arabians, Morgans, Paints and Pintos, Appaloosas and Quarter Horses.

Aberdeen Angus breeders began competition in 15 classes for four-place prize with grand champion and reserve grand champion titles to receive rosettes and purple ribbons.

Junior Angus members will show their own show with a number of special awards to be presented. Charolais and Shorthorn shows and junior shows were scheduled for this afternoon.

Flower clubs and organizations were busy until the 9 a.m. deadline this morning getting their displays completed for the judging which was scheduled for 10 a.m.

Ken Mills, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Mills, Twin Falls, won a grand champion ribbon for his mature sow during swine judging Tuesday. The animal had previously won first for a mature sow and for senior sow. Mills said the boy has been working with swine for over a year.

LuAnn Howard, Buhi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Howard, won the grand champion trophy for 4-H club beef fitting and showing with her Angus heifer, Marcia Chadwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Chadwick. Hollister received the reserve grand champion trophy for her Hereford steer.

"The public was given an insight into the hard work which goes into training the famed Appaloosa horses at a free dressage clinic conducted this morning by Eric Albert Ostermaier. The clinic evoked favorable response from on-lookers. The beautiful dancing stallions will be a feature each night at the rodeo.

Entries at the dog house at the fair are at an all-time high, according to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mulligan, superintendents who report a full house. The best of show trophy in the dog department went to Mrs. Robert Richardson, Kimberly, for her terrier puppy.

Among the motorcycles seen at the fairgrounds were some bearing licenses from the states of Maryland and Virginia.

Several crop buyers from foreign countries are reported to be attending the fair.

"Tom's Fish," a longly colored mini-train, will be on display through the fairgrounds. The train is especially valuable for older and handicapped people, but is a great favorite with the young set.

The 4-H club members will assemble at 7 p.m. tonight for their entry into the rodeo grounds, a local riding club and the Filer band will present pre-rodeo entertainment.

The Polled Hereford cattle show will get underway at 8 a.m. Thursday. The 4-H demonstrations in agriculture, home economics and miscellaneous will begin in the morning in the Parks pavilion.

Appaloosa horse performances are set for 9 a.m. Thursday. Other events of the day will include tractor driving contests, FFA round robin, fitting and showing, the open to the world steer show and judging of junior Hereford cattle.

Pre-rodeo entertainment will again precede the rodeo.

Interior chief denies Skycycle landing right

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — US Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton has refused to grant Evel Knievel permission to land his Skycycle on federal land north of the Snake River.

But Knievel, who is ahead and jump without the permit, according to his attorney, James May.

"As far as we're concerned we're going to proceed without any permits," May said. "Plans are all set." He added, "We're not unhappy about the decision. In fact, it saves a lot of money."

The secretary's decision was termed "most firm" by an associate. It was made because "he did not consider the event or possible landing as an appropriate or a legitimate use of public land," an aide said.

State director of the Bureau of Land Management, William Mathews, said "We don't plan to take any action to prevent the jump and we don't know what the secretary's office would suggest if Mr. Knievel jumps and lands on public land."

national resource land on the north side of the canyon.

George Turcott, the associate director of the BLM in Washington, DC, said today, "There will be no effort by the BLM to prevent the jump." He declined to say whether the BLM would seek to prosecute Knievel if he landed on the federal land.

"These are matters that will have to be taken up later," Turcott said.

The action by Morton came only hours after a meeting between Knievel's representatives and BLM officials to settle financial terms for the permit.

The BLM had originally requested a flat fee of $5,000 for use of the land by the daredevil, plus 1.25 percent of the gross for ticket sales and 375 percent of the gross receipts from other portions of the event, including television movies, and concessions.

Knievel's representatives were negotiating to establish "a flat rate instead of a percentage of the gross according to a BLM official."

Now Knievel will pay no fee for landing on the BLM area, unless he is cited for trespass and fined through the courts.

'Serious safety hazard' brings TF land closure

TWIN FALLS — Citing a very serious safety hazard, the Twin Falls City Council Monday closed a strip of city-owned land adjacent to Evel Knievel's jump site on the Snake River Canyon rim.

The city land stretches eastward along the canyon rim from the jump site to Shoshone Falls.

Councilmen had expressed concern that people could walk along the city land to gather at the unprotected rim to watch Knievel's Sunday jump.

City Manager Jean Miller recommended the closure because of the apparent desire by the public for access to the jump site area.

The route, he said, traverses rugged, steep, rocky bluffs that are covered with weeds, dry grass and brush.

He said there is "exposure to insects and snakes" and "danger of fire, falling rocks."

He said the area, when used for such travel, represents a safety hazard to the public.

Councilman Tom Smith said he would not like to see the city spend a great deal of time and expense policing the area.

"If the people want to go to the site in that manner it is up to us to take care of them or up to us to decide if the area is too much money in Knievel's pocket," Smith said.

Mayor Winston Jones said the trail is not safe and since it is city-owned property, he feels the city has a responsibility to close it. He said there is no need for a 24-hour staff to enforce it.

Ford's decision on leniency may come next week

(c) New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — President Ford may put off until next week a promised decision on conditional leniency for military deserters and draft evaders in order to consult again with the departments of defense and justice.

White House Press Secretary J.P. Terborgh said Tuesday announcement of the President's plans for granting leniency to the fugitives could come next Monday or Tuesday. He did not say why the President wanted to talk to his legal and military experts before disclosing his program.

On Tuesday, Ford met with the heads of the American Legion and the Jewish War Veterans of the United States of America, although Terborgh described the meetings as courtesy calls and said that amnesty probably would not be discussed, both officials emerged from the White House to tell reporters that they had, indeed, talked about the issue.

Both said the President indicated in his remarks that he was considering a plan to treat deserters and draft evaders on a case-by-case basis, rather than adopt a single approach applicable to all of the 50,000 young men who would be affected.

The national commander of the Jewish War Veterans, Judge Paul Ribner, told reporters after his 20-minute meeting with the President that he had reason to believe that Ford was considering the appointment of a civilian commission or board to deal with the amnesty issue.

Ribner, whose organization remains opposed to general amnesty, said that after talking to the President he was "encouraged that he (Ford) is taking the right steps to have various viewpoints" on the issue examined and acted on.

In response to questions, he said he would not be surprised if Ford appointed a presidential commission to study the program of conditional amnesty.

Ribner added that while the President did not disclose anything specific about his plans for leniency for Vietnam deserters and draft evaders, he did indicate that "he would not take any one-step approach to all of them."

The national commander of the American Legion, James M. Wagoner, read a statement after his meeting with the President reaffirming his organization's demand that every draft evader and deserter stand trial.

"Anything less would be a gross insult to those who served," he asserted.

He also said he would not object if the President pardoned those who stood trial and were convicted.

Under a plan offered to the President by Atty. Gen. William French Smith and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger, amnesty could be offered to evaders and deserters who reaffirmed their pledge of allegiance to the country and who performed alternate duty in lieu of military service.

Evel wants good luck emblem on jump craft

Jack Evel, 44, of Twin Falls, is making a long-time friend and official emblem to make "good luck" his good luck emblem on his daredevil skycycle when it is launched across the gaping Snake River Canyon next Sunday.

"It was a bit salty with pers" said Jack Evel, of Sacramento, recalling the event planned all from Kneivel. "He seemed unusually uptight" and said he needed all the help he could get to make it across the canyon.

Ferriter, manager of the American Sign Co., and company owner Bill Linnick worked around the clock during the Labor Day Weekend putting the finishing touches on the steam-powered skycycle.

The jet-powered motorcycle was quickly loaded into a truck and on its way to scenic Southern Idaho where Evel will attempt to leap 1,600 feet across the canyon on the 350 m.p.h. machine.

The good luck emblem, which is painted across the canopy, merely says, "Color Me Lucky. Each letter is done in a different bright color.

Ferriter, who grew up in the Twin Falls area, knicker and married the girl both dated, said he did not complete in full color the good luck emblem on the second day after it was painted and placed into the Snake River.

"That's what really set him off," Ferriter said. "He kind of runs on luck and depends on it. He even has a rabbit's foot on his leathers."

Ferriter and Linnick have been doing the sign work on Kneivel's machinery — including several cars, motorcycles, trucks, airplanes and skycycles — for eight years.

The daredevil has lost two unmanned skycycles in the Snake River so far. But despite the unsuccessful tests he is scheduled to make the jump, saying, "the third time is a charm."

"He told me to make damn sure the emblem was complete this time," Ferriter said.

During the weekend many persons visited the sign company viewing the skycycle.

One round-eyed teenager commented it didn't look like a motorcycle but "like a bullet, with a seat and tail fin."

Not taking any chances the Federal Aviation Administration has placed temporary flight restrictions over the canyon Sunday. Air traffic will be banned up to 8,000 feet.

Carmen stalls, rebuilds power; new storms rise

United Press International
Tropical Storm Carmen was stalled in the Gulf of Campeche off Mexico today, possibly rebuilding toward hurricane strength while two other tropical disturbances grew in the Atlantic.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami said today that Carmen was nearly stationary near latitude 20 north, longitude 91 west, off the Yucatan Peninsula.

Its peak winds were 60 miles per hour, well below the 175 m.p.h. force it had Monday, when it cut an 80 mile swath across Yucatan.

Forecasters Paul Hebert of the National Hurricane Center said Carmen probably would regain hurricane strength later today but a change in weather conditions may cause it to strike land again between the Mexican cities of Campeche and Veracruz.

He said a large mass of high pressure over the United States was blocking Carmen from a more northerly course.

A second disturbance, which could strengthen into a tropical storm that would be assigned the name Dolly lay about midway between Charleston, S.C., and Bermuda.

Hebert said it could be absorbed by a cold front moving eastward across the South Atlantic coast, but if not, it might gain strength and become a hurricane.

He said it was not likely to head toward the U.S. coast for at least the next 24 hours.

The second disturbance, which would become Tropical Storm Elaine, was centered 1,000 miles east of the Leeward Islands in the Atlantic and heading west at 15 miles an hour.

Hebert said it might develop into a tropical depression within the next 48 hours.

"The Mexican city of Chetumal, in Quintana Roo, where the hurricane struck Monday, reported $1 million in storm damage."

The homes of an estimated 5,000 persons were destroyed and trees, roofs and telephone poles torn loose.

The largest movie theater collapsed. Telephone service was restored to Chetumal Tuesday. But there was no electric power. Damage to the Yucatan rice crop was feared heavy.

At Carozal, on Mexico's border with Belize, thousands of Belize refugees gathered at the interior capital of Belmopan. Damage to the corn crop was listed as heavy.

Public backing asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Assistant Senate Republican leader Robert P. Griffin today urged the public support President Ford's attempt to defer raises for 3.5 million federal workers by contacting Congressmen to counter lobbying by government employee unions.

"Everyone who supports President Ford in that effort to do something about that pay raise for federal workers should be contacting their congressmen because the union officials who represent federal workers are already lobbying very hard and are putting a lot of pressure on Congress."

Griffin said "that will be a real test for Congress to see whether they're going to support the President in that effort against inflation."

1,500 attend fete

RELLERUP — Over 1,500 people celebrated the Labor Day festivities here Monday. All 1,100 pounds of barbecued beef was served which was 400 pounds more than last year. Seven floats were entered sharing in $3 prize money. Several races were held from age 5 on up past 45.

First place for floats went to Phyllis Beauty Shop, Bellevue; second to the Silver Dollar; third to Knuck Knickers. In the old cars division first place went to Brian Davis, Boise, in a 1929 Buick; second to Tom Barzatt, Boise, in a 1917 Ford; third to L.P. Heagle, Halley, in a 1930 Ford Cabriolet.

Old time cars were entered from the 1910s to the 1930s. In the horse division Rita Hurst first; Verline Kohlen, second; and Phyllis Fritz, third, all from Halley. In the walking children's division the Bellevue Library with the theme "Through the Pages of Story Book Land" was first; Kelly Boishole as Mary Poppins was in the float and she won first place for best costume. Wendy Tueller dressed as a pioneer woman won second place.

In the street races age 6-8, Cathy Grant, Halley, first, and Wendy Tueller, Bellevue, second. Boys 6-8, Ricky Oden, Idaho Falls, first; Greg Taylor, Bellevue, second.

Girls 9-12, Tammy Stricker, Bellevue, first, and Corinne Brannan, second. Boys 9-12, Darrell Clark, Nampa, first, and Shalee Richman, Halley, second.

Girls 13-15, Tracy Tharpe, Halley, first, and Valerie Quessell, Bellevue, second. Boys 13-15, Tracy Anderson, Bellevue, first, and Keith Lemons, Fairfield, second.

Boys 3-legged race, Ed Thierig and Rich Iland, first, no address, and Travis Tueller, Bellevue, and Rip Brower, Halley, second.

Men's 3-legged, Cecil Johnson and son Bill, Buhl, first, and Rich Showalter and Tim Hawkins, Bellevue, second.

Men's sack race, Dick Mason, Ketchum, first, and Wade Faulk, Bellevue, second. Girls sack race, Jan Vernon, no address, first, and Wendy Faulk, Halley, second.

Speakers at Buhl

Buhl — Evangelist Bob Ford and his associate, Bill Castleman from southern California will be guest speakers tonight at the First Assembly of God Church in Buhl.

Rev. Colman, pastor of the church, said the two were held over by popular demand after their appearances last week. He said the two are members of the Lutheran and Baptist churches, respectively, who have received charismatic experience.

Rev. Ford, the pastor said, is now devoting full-time to full ministry and has held revivals in Mexico, California and Idaho.

The public is invited to attend.

Joint meet starts year

Buhl — Canton Colfax No. 10 and — Auxiliary Patriarch Militant had a potluck dinner, Monday, preceding the first meeting after the summer recess.

The meeting was at the Buhl Odd Fellows Temple with Mrs. William Breeding, president, in charge. Mrs. Betty Dameron and Mrs. Madge Hudson gave the opening thoughts.

Mrs. Alice Bowman was installed as treasurer of the auxiliary with Mrs. Irene Childers serving as installing officer.

The next meeting will be at 6 p.m. Oct. 2 in the Twin Falls Odd Fellows Temple. There will be practice for the inspection meeting in November and for the memorial service to be given at the association meeting.

Blood program

On-call donors needed

TWIN FALLS — Blood typing of Kellwood employees who are willing to become on-call donors started today at the plant.

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital spokesman Tony Parsons said that the blood typing is being done for any disaster that may arise. "I suppose one of the reasons this is being done," she said, "is because of the possible disaster of Eyed Knevel, but the appointment with the Kellwood plant has been set up for months and is not specifically for Knevel."

This is a cooperative effort arranged by the hospital with Kellwood designed to help in the hospital's disaster preparedness. By blood typing, a ready reservoir of persons with known blood types can become blood donors if needed.

According to a hospital spokesman, all of the hospital's daily needs and its requirements for ordinary emergencies are supplied through the Twin Falls and Boise offices of the Red Cross.

Usual blood needs of the hospital are supplied by the Red Cross in Boise. If an emergency need for blood arises, the hospital calls the local Red Cross which arranges for "walking" donors of desired blood types to report to the hospital.

Conducting the blood drawing and typing today were Mrs. Ida Marie Call, registered blood bank technologist, and Dennis Benzon, M.D., both from the pathology department of the hospital.

Police chief plans action

SALMON — Chief of Police Jed Wilson advised the Salmon Chamber of Commerce he is initiating a series of actions aimed at improving law enforcement in the city.

The official said he hopes to improve the department's public relations.

One action will seek to improve the answering of calls.

A light is turned on atop the Furniture Mart Bldg. on Main Street when an officer is needed during the time City Hall is closed.

During office hours, the city clerk's office can contact the police car. If the city-police station number, 756-2100, does not answer.

Chief Wilson said that during the night, if the night-man on duty needs help he can contact the chief and if the night-light is not answered within 15 minutes the telephone company operator will notify the chief at his residence.

JUDY Carroll, right, Kellwood employee, is having her blood tested by Marie Call, registered blood bank technologist. The program is designed to provide a ready reservoir of persons willing to become on-call donors if the need arises.

Ski development survey planned

KETCHUM — Wood River Valley residents will get their chance to tell the U.S. Forest Service if further ski development is wanted here.

Jack Hougard, planner coordinator for the Sawtooth National Recreation Area, said, Monday a draft environmental statement on the proposed Butterfield Creek ski area 11 miles north of Ketchum would be mailed to area residents and interested groups in the next 10 days.

In addition, Hougard said a professional survey business in Boise is preparing a questionnaire to present to 200 families in the valley about ski development in the Cold Springs area.

Springer Land Investment Co. has started some work on the Butterfield Creek site, primarily clearing two runs.

However, work was discontinued in 1973 under a forest service order requiring an environmental impact study on new projects.

Sun Valley Co. has submitted plans to the forest service for expansion in the Cold Springs area. The company wants to build six new lifts to the Seattle Ridge, Round House and Lower Pole Springs area, as well as a new lift in Frenchman Gully.

According to Hougard, the expansion would increase Bald Mountain capacity about one third. Most of the expansion would be intermediate skiing, he said.

Hougard said Sun Valley wanted to begin improvements in the Cold Springs area, this fall, but the work will be set back.

Hougard said an environmental draft on the Butterfield Creek Area known as Big Wood had been held up at the regional office in Ogden. He said the regional office had requested that some working concerning sewage disposal at Big Wood be clarified.

No major change was suggested by the regional office, he said.

After the regional office determines the study is complete it will be sent to the Council on Environmental Quality. If they approve the statement the draft will be sent out to all homeowners in the Big Wood area, plus a mandatory list of people set by the Office of Management and Budget.

A limited number of copies will be available at the Twin Falls office of the Sawtooth National Forest for anyone wishing a copy.

Hougard said comments would be taken into account before the final draft is completed. Hougard said the project looks sound now but if comments "were overwhelming" against development he said the area ranger in conjunction with forest supervisor Ed Fournier could deny no development there.

The Big Wood development is planned to accommodate 4,700 skiers, he said.

The environmental effects could be "fairly" strangle, Hougard said.

When the development was first proposed Hougard said no adverse comments were encountered. "People's attitudes have changed somewhat," however, Hougard said.

Comments on the Big Wood development may shed new light on residents desire for new development everywhere in the valley, he said.

He said the forest service, after thinking over some of the effects of new development on Bald Mountain, decided a social, cultural, economic study was needed before giving approval to new development.

Sun Valley leases permit from the forest service on Bald Mountain and needs approval to develop additional permit land.

Hougard said the survey from the Boise firm was something new for the forest service at least in Idaho. The planner said the forest service has its own planners although the survey planned, was not their specialty.

Hougard said the survey, hopefully to be completed before the end of the year, would be independent from the forest service. He said the firm wanted to take the survey free from any press notices, so people would not form group opinions.

In that manner he said the group hoped to get the "true opinion" from those interested. The two-day survey will not be pre-announced he said.

The Office of Management and Budget will approve the questionnaire he said. Before the survey is run, the approval from OMB is needed he said as the survey is free from duplication from previous census.

Some of the survey might be done by telephone although the exact arrangement is not set yet.

Questions, he said, would stick to effects new development might have on the economics, and on the social and cultural benefits or detriments.

Sheriff Corder keeps it cool

Twin Falls County Sheriff Paul Corder and his overworked men should be commended for their reasonable, cool handling of the many law-enforcement problems surrounding Evel Knievel's jump.

The sheriff has adopted a policy of reasonableness. He is less concerned about making the maximum number of arrests than he is in preserving a semblance of harmony.

The sheriff is working to defuse trouble before it starts. He is setting out the underlying problems of suspicion, distrust and fear rather than settling out to make the maximum number of arrests.

His graceful way of dealing with the larks of "skinny dippers" and campers at Shoshone Falls is a good example of good law enforcement in practice. He quietly told those involved to put their clothes back on, while not going out of his way to arrest everyone.

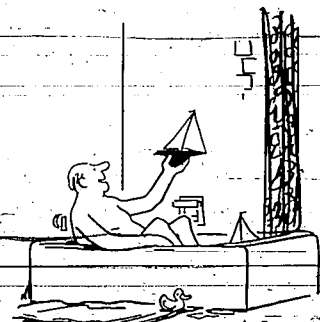

The result is bonds of trust, friendship and respect instead of frustration and animosity. At the same time Corder has tried to discredit false rumors of rape and disorder which seem to accompany an event such as Evel's.

As Corder sees the situation, the greatest danger comes from fear between the townspeople on the one hand and the flocks of out-of-town visitors on the other. He also is worried about potential trouble sparked by Evel's armed guards who stand somewhere between the visitors and townspeople.

Despite Corder's soft speech, he also carries a big stick. He has arranged for support from other local police forces, the state police and about 600 national guardsmen.

This seems to be a sensible approach which merits everyone's support.

Europe's 'Big 3' key to regional development

(C) New York Times Service

LONDON — In the next phase of the development of Europe, much will depend on the personalities and political skill of the three leaders now in power — Chancellor Schmidt in West Germany, President Giscard d'Estaing in France and Prime Minister Harold Wilson in Britain.

Schmidt seems more direct and less complicated than the two others. He is no visionary like his predecessor, Willy Brandt, but a superb financial technician, and more enthusiastic about the unity of Europe than the others.

Giscard d'Estaing is the most interesting new personality in European politics. Like his friend Schmidt, he is a former finance minister with a determination to keep Franco-German relations on a steady and fruitful course, but personally they are different.

Schmidt is a powerful, beefy man with a booming voice and the energy of a bull. Giscard d'Estaing is imperially slim and delicately handsome. He seems at home in the Elysee Palace — almost as if he had stepped out of one of the vast gilt nineteenth-century picture frames.

Wilson seems a bit withdrawn these days. Though he faces an election, probably on Oct. 2 or 3, he has been away in the Shetland Isles for a month and is just now returning to lead the campaign.

The difference between Britain on the one hand and France and West Germany on the other now is that Giscard d'Estaing and Schmidt have given their countries a sense of new leadership and new beginnings, whereas Britain is stuck with old and — worsening — problems and old-fashioned leaders.

Giscard d'Estaing in contrast is an exciting new figure, a conservative who speaks like a visionary, loves literature, studies Flaubert and De Maupassant, writes novels, and is as comfortable on television as Walter Cronkite.

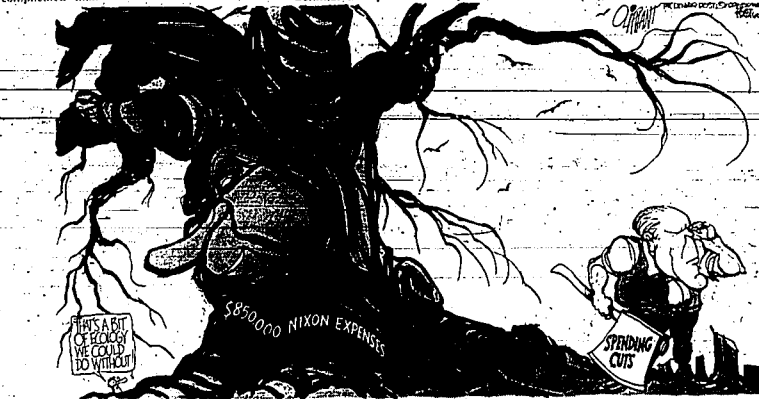

He is trying to create a new political majority in the middle, bring women and youth into positions of power and reform the social and industrial structure of what is essentially a conservative country.

He talks like Franklin Roosevelt, without Roosevelt's mammoth political support. He doesn't avoid the hard questions but confronts the Norwest's resistance to change. He says the people fear it at first but accept it after the issues have been voted.

It will take some time to prove this is actually true. His anti-inflation measures include higher taxes, especially in companies, steep cuts in tax consumption this coming winter, a powerful credit squeeze and a bank rate up to a record of 12 percent.

If leaders are forceful enough, and imaginative enough, and if they lead with a certain lyricism, he said, the people will begin to think in different ways about change and unity.

This word "lyricism" is probably the key to his new administration. It is not the word Ford, Schmidt or Wilson would use, but call it anything else — style, class, even charisma. Giscard d'Estaing is introducing it as a new element in European politics, and with this, his close working relations with Schmidt, he may get France and Europe moving again.

LOOKING FOR TREES

Ford sets limits on campaigning for GOP

WASHINGTON — President Ford has ruled out campaigning against Democratic incumbents running for reelection to Congress at least until after Congress adjourns in mid-October.

The only Congressional race that Ford would touch before final Congressional adjournment are those he calls "open" district elections: districts in which the incumbent is not running. The President passed that word privately on Aug. 22 to several old friends in the Oval Office during a picture-taking session he had with 149 House Republicans, all of them running for reelection.

If Congress delays adjournment until late October, he indicated, he would campaign only in "open" districts, and only "late" in the campaign. The reason: Ford's pledge in his first presidential speech to Congress to seek a "lasting marriage," not just the traditional honeymoon, with the overwhelming Democratic Congress.

What that probably assures is a low presidential profile on the campaign stump this fall, a fact that will disappoint most Republicans and anger some. For while Ford carefully avoids allowing his hoped-for "marriage" with Congress vice president-designate Nelson Rockefeller will also be immunized as a national campaigner this fall until Congress confirms him.

The President's self-imposed "but unannounced" rule to concentrate in "open" districts still leaves him running room. There are 23 Republican and 23 Democratic Districts in which incumbents are not running for reelection. Frederick Malek, the White House hatchet man in the first Nixon administration who recently resigned as deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget, has been fired from his prospective new job with shipowner D. K. Ludwig.

A Malek intimate confirmed that Ludwig, a publicity hater who has acquired the world's largest single-owner fleet of ocean transports, was infuriated at the publicity Malek gave himself and his new job as a top Ludwig lieutenant.

In short, Malek stumbled over his own tongue on his path from the White House to Ludwig's Manhattan office and as Malek boasted to the press three weeks ago a salary "in the six figures."

Now he was fallen victim to Ludwig's well-known penchant for privacy and lost the job. He planned to start next week.

Secret soundings have been made by agents of

Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas into the political camp of Nelson Rockefeller to discover if there is any link between the powerful Rockefeller clan and pretty, 30-year-old Judy Petty. Mills's Republican opponent in his campaign for reelection.

A former high-level assistant to the late Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, Ms. Petty is the first serious Republican opponent in decades to challenge the awesome political power of Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. That power has now diminished. At 65, Mills has had several bouts with bad health and has lost some of his super-cloud in Congress.

What bothered Mills's aides was the analogy, seemingly farfetched, between the Mills-Petty race and the upset of aging former Democratic Rep. Emanuel Celler by pretty, youthful and new Congressman Elizabeth Holtzman in their primary race two years ago in Brooklyn.

Mills was assured that vice president-designate Rockefeller has no involvement whatsoever in Judy Petty's challenge.

Which way starboard?

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Mass. — I was sitting on the porch of our rented house on Martha's Vineyard reading "Six Crises" for the seventh time when the call from Washington came.

It was my secretary Ellie who said in a breathless voice, "The White House just telephoned. President and Mrs. Ford want you to come to a state dinner Friday night."

"What is it?" my wife said when she saw my face. "What's so funny?"

"President Ford wants us to come to dinner Friday night."

"Hurry up and get off the phone," she said. "I have to call Oscar de la Renta and order a new evening gown."

"Wait a minute, social climber," I said. "Not so fast. We have to think this one out. I told Ellie I would call her back."

"What is there to think out?" my wife said. "We've been invited by the President of the United States for dinner. We have to go."

"It's not that simple. Don't you see what they're trying to do? It's the old 'invite the columnist to the White House' trick. They're out to get me."

"How can you say that?" she demanded.

"I've never been invited to the White House — not by John F. Kennedy, not by Lyndon B. Johnson, not even by Richard Nixon. The title of my last book was 'I Never Dined at the White House.' I've made my living hanging on the bars of the iron fence looking in. Now the Fords are trying to destroy me by asking us to break bread with them."

"You're being paranoid," my wife said. "Maybe they don't know many people in Washington, and they've heard what a great dancer you are."

"I wish that was all there was to it. But I believe someone in the Ford administration has it in for me. Can't you see what this will do for me? If I go to that dinner, it will be reported in the press. My credibility as a reporter will be destroyed. People will pick up the column and say, 'I wonder what the freeholder has to say about Mr. Ford today.' There is no way anyone can be objective after he's dined with the President's wife."

"Well, you can't just refuse. You'd be insulting the office of the Presidency," my wife said as she started putting her hair in rollers.

"We could go sailing," I said. "We were out in a sailboat and they couldn't find us, we wouldn't be insulting anybody."

"But you can't sail," she objected.

ART BUCHWALD

"All you need is a good sea, strong canvas and a wind at your back. I read that somewhere."

"I'm not going to risk drowning just because you don't want to go to dinner at the White House."

"What option do we have?" I said. "The Fords haven't given us any choice. Threats I can take, HTS audits I can deal with. But there is no way I can afford an invitation to a state dinner."

"Then I can't call Oscar de la Renta!" she said crestfallen.

"Not unless he makes yellow slickers for senators," I said. "I called back Ellie. Ellie, tell the White House that you can't reach us — that we're somewhere between Nantucket and Cape Hatteras on a boat. And once more thing — look up starboard and tell me if it's the right side or the left side of a boat."

(C) Los Angeles Times

"What a pity — it WAS leaning your way, though!"

Perhaps we ought to keep August, after all

(C) Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON. — A cherished fantasy of the occupant of this space has been to cancel August. The idea was to skip it, get even with the town, except the most essential types, for a month of mercurial escape from the blather and strain.

It was airily assumed that nothing of consequence ever happened in August anyway. Barbara Tuchman challenged the notion a few years back with a book about the prelude to World War I, titled "Guns of August." Trusty denizens of the archives could offer up other idiocies of August, but the basic premise seemed sound enough. Moreover, Parisians and Romans and other civilized urbanites have long made a cult of letting August sleep in its own juice, while they recharged themselves on the beaches or in the mountains.

Well, as anyone who hasn't been lost in the jungles of Lazzar knows by now, the idea got sidetracked this time around. Ask Richard Nixon or Gerald Ford. But once the star-spangled desecration occurred and the new president shifted gears, August settled into its old torpid ways.

PETER LISAGOR

For one bright glimmer moment the other day a stranger in town might have felt himself strapped back to Peter's "Era of wonderful nonsense." The front page of The Washington Post, which had dealt for two long years with the thunderclaps of Watergate and the decline and fall of Nixon, was graced with two sports stories.

The death of Charles A. Lindbergh, an authentic superstar of 20th century America, added to the nostalgic kick as August waned. The "Lone Eagle's" legendary solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927 was the first of several great personal dramas that enriched and saddened his life. "I have had enough publicity for my life," he once remarked.

As must be plain to any reader who has progressed this far, the late August blinks have subverted the urge to pontificate or ponder the measured approach of Gerald Ford to the price or pork chops. A debt is owed the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service for trying to relieve the tedium with several pieces of intelligence that has escaped the attention of the CIA.

For example, the service reports that the polar bear enjoyed a banner year in its various habitats, from central Siberia to western Alaska. While tempers raged in the August heat here, the polar bear sat coolly on its ice caps, contemplating the fact that last November, the five polar bear nations drafted an agreement prohibiting the use of aircraft and large motorized vessels as hunter's aids. For the polygamist polar bear, this was no small triumph.

The story was different for manatees and dugongs, identified as large and odd-looking marine mammals of the Atlantic, Indian and Pacific oceans, as well as several major continental rivers. The manatees, considered good eating in some quarters, with hides that make reliable machine belts and water hoses, have had a rough go of it, their population declining sharply. The same goes for the dugongs, whose meat is similar to veal or pork.

Fed relaxes one grip

(C) New York Times Service
NEW YORK — The Federal Reserve loosened its tight grip on the money supply significantly last week to permit the treasury securities market a slight relief after government borrowing costs had risen to a historic high.

But the corporate market debt market was described by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. as "a veritable exercise in futility."

Actually, the Fed's action in easing credit last week was foreshadowed by its soaking up liquidity earlier in the week through two-day reverse repurchase agreements.

Such operations involve the placement of government obligations in the market to pump money out of the street.

This action came after treasury bill yields Aug. 26 jumped to almost 10 percent, a record on this paper.

But when the agreements ended Thursday and the Fed took back its securities and returned the money, bill yields tumbled almost 100 basis points.

Meanwhile, the Fed appeared satisfied to see federal fund rates ease a half-point to 11 1/2 percent. In recent weeks, the central bank seemed determined to keep these rates locked in at 12 percent.

Federal funds rates are what banks pay to borrow money from each other when they need to square their reserve accounts.

Whether the Fed's open-handedness was motivated by technical considerations during a holiday-shortened bank statement week or foreshadowing more significant objectives was debated by dealers.

Salomon Brothers, the big treasury securities dealers, did not see any profound change in the Fed's policy, and noted in its weekend letter:

"The Fed's accommodation at this point does not indicate an abandonment of policy objectives, but reflects only an adjustment to two new factors. One of these was the disarray that seemed to characterize financial markets last week, and the potential threat this posed for economic stability."

"The other condition that permitted the Fed to act decisively in an encouraging manner was the moderate behavior of virtually all major monetary and reserve aggregates in recent weeks."

But the corporate and tax-exempt bond markets found relief only in the long holiday weekend. These new corporate issues that came to market were recorded a less than enthusiastic reception.

Northern Bell Telephone, a prime name, paid a record 10.14 percent to borrow $150 million. A $100-million RCA corporation issue costing that company 10.2 percent found its underwriting syndicate breaking up less than 24 hours after the offering was made.

With the season's surge in offerings expected to start shortly and investors interested only in quality names, the market for corporates and tax-exempts was summed up by Morgan Guaranty over the weekend in this manner:

"Over a prolonged time span, it was clear that meaningful retail demand has been absent from many sectors of the debt market — notably the bond area."

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

She's got a shadow around home

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has retired and I think my trouble is him. I am not complaining to get pity because he has been a good husband.

But when he retired he said, "I am going to rest a few days and then I'm going to work on our place." That was in 1968. He still is resting.

I have a shadow wherever I go. I know I should be glad that I still have him but my nerves are so bad, he doesn't think for himself.

His doctor told him to get off his back and keep busy and try to get away from his smoking habit — his lungs are bad and he has had three slight strokes, but came out pretty lucky.

But I am a nervous wreck and would like a little time of my own. My blood pressure is high — 150/90.

You aren't alone — which may be the wrong wording because you'd like to be alone some of the time. What I mean is that yours is not an uncommon problem, and I've even known of sympathy cards being sent to the wives of retiring husbands.

Six years is a long "rest" and he's undoubtedly fixed in the habit. It may take some ingenuity on your part to get him off his duff, but it will be worth it both to you and to him.

Just slithering is the road to deterioration, and I wish he realized it. His habit will just grow stronger unless you start weaning him.

Refuse to take him shopping with you. Maybe you can sign up for volunteer work a few days a week. In a hospital or in the many groups that use volunteers.

Visit friends. I don't think it would be a sin to have a friend send a note inviting you for "an afternoon with the girls," even if it really meant only you and your friend. Finally would have to realize that men aren't invited.

Join some women's groups at the church, John clubs.

Even let yourself get "trapped" into committees. Get yourself invited for a visit with relatives in some other city — if he has to shift for himself for a few days, he'll discover that he can. This thought seems to have escaped him.

And since he won't "think for himself," give him some choices that he has to settle. Ask him what color he's going to paint the porch and finally refuse to make the decision yourself. Keep asking him what he has decided. Ask him which ought to come first, cleaning out the garage or the attic. Ask him which kind of shrubs to plant in the yard.

Maybe even threaten to take down the screen door and go out in the yard and start putting on new screening. Ask him what the neighbors will say if they see you doing it. Then, send (not take) him down to the hardware store for some new screen.

Use all your ingenuity. You've got to get him off dead center, and it will take. I'm afraid, some activities doing for at least a little while.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My joints crack and snap. Ankles, knees, hips, wrists, elbows and shoulders, when I move them. Am I lacking a vitamin? Any explanation? — Mrs. R. L.

No, it doesn't mean any lack of any vitamin. Some folks have looser joint capsules than others do, but it isn't harmful.

Note to Mrs. E.N.: You've been misinformed, at least to some extent. Leukoplakia (whitish, thickening patches on a mucous surface, as in the mouth or on the lip) can be treated, by removing them surgically. Leukoplakia can develop into cancer, and if not removed, should be examined from time to time. Removal of the irritant — smoking, chewing tobacco, jagged teeth — helps.

I am writing in behalf of the handicapped residents of Magic Valley Living Center.

In a petition recently presented by a group of citizens residing in this area, a complaint was made about the handicapped people leaving pasture gates open and letting livestock out.

I live next door to the Living Center and my kitchen overlooks the whole area to the north. Many times I have seen neighbor children go through the gates and leave them open. This also was happening before the center was established.

These children include some swimmers, children with BB guns and several times a neighbor boy threw the gate down, went through on his small motorcycle — leaving the gate open — going into the pasture to chase a bull with his cycle.

Two employees of the canal company came to my door recently saying two children with BB guns went through the gate leaving it open and the cattle were out on the railroad. The men thought people would blame them for this.

Now all of this took place on the property of the living center. I called the center and you guess who rounded up all the cattle and closed the gates? That's right, the boys from the handicapped home. They live livestock and help care for them.

I am not saying all is perfect at the center but where in the world is everything perfect? Let us not blame the handicapped people with all these things. Goodness knows they have enough problems of their own to cope with.

What happened?

Editor, Times-News:
All this is heard of, our soon-to-come Evil Knievel to rim week is resentment, restrictions and ill feelings. What happened to the friendly, welcoming, fellow-loving people of this area?

I know that if I had a business which was going to profit by the coming event, I'd welcome any brothers and sisters. I'm sure that even if profit wasn't in the picture people have in them exciting feelings of seeing people whom they may never see again.

Face it, everything is go, and they're coming whether we like it or not.

Machine tells truth

KIM Greene, secretary with the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, demonstrates the ALERT mobile breath tester. The ALERT is part of the ASAP exhibit at the Twin Falls County Fair. Within twenty seconds the ALERT will indicate the level of alcohol in a person's system, and the test is free to anyone wishing to determine his or her alcohol level.

County fair exhibit aids police officer

FILER - The Idaho Alcohol Involvement Project exhibit at the Twin Falls County Fair features a device used to identify and apprehend drunk drivers. The device called ALERT measures and indicates within 20 seconds whether the amount of alcohol in a person's system is over the legal limit. ALERT is used as a screening device in those states which have pre-arrest breath laws permitting police officers to test for alcohol levels before placing an individual under arrest. Idaho has no pre-arrest breath law meaning the police can administer breath tests only after the individual has been placed under arrest for driving while intoxicated. The ALERT is available to anyone visiting the Twin Falls County Fair who wishes to test his or her alcohol level. The exhibit will be housed in merchant's building No. 3 at the fairgrounds.

Busbee douses lights for Georgia's Maddox

By United Press International

Workhorse George Busbee trampled showhorse Lester Maddox in Georgia, but two other former governors won comeback primaries in North Dakota and Nevada Tuesday.

Maddox' loss of the Democratic nomination for governor was seen as another victory for "New South" politics over the region's traditional mix of corporate and agricultural money.

But the victories of former Govs. William Gay in North Dakota and Paul Laxalt in Nevada in Senate primaries seemed to discount any demand for "new faces" by voters in 1974.

As for the surge of women in politics this year, one of two seeking statewide office made it out of the primary hurdle.

Shirley Crumpler was leading for the Republican nomination for governor in Nevada, but Maya Miller failed in the state's Democratic senatorial primary.

Maddox, a fired chicken merchant who vaulted to the governorship in 1966 after making headlines for his fiery opposition to desegregation, lost his seat last year.

The lieutenant governor's seat since 1970.

Democrat Jimmy Carter now holds the seat but cannot run for re-election.

The state constitution bars governors from seeking immediate re-election.

Maddox led a large field of candidates in the Aug. 13 primary—winning 35 per cent of the vote to 22 for Busbee.

But Busbee, Democratic leader in the Georgia House, crushed the Maddox comeback by enslaving himself as a reliable "workhorse" who could do a better job than a flamboyant "showhorse."

Busbee's victory seemed to end the political career of the volatile Maddox, who liked to give away pick handles as a symbol of his opposition to racial integration and who amused himself by riding a bicycle backwards at public appearances.

Maddox had softened his hard line on racial matters in recent years, but at the end of the runoff campaign he claimed Busbee was an ally of Julian Bond, the black Georgia legislator who in 1967 was denied a seat in the House because of antiwar statements.

Actually, Busbee had voted to deny Bond his seat, which was restored by court action.

There was additional irony. Busbee, as House majority leader, played a key role in the selection of Maddox as governor by the legislature when the 1966 general election failed to produce a majority winner.

Busbee's Republican opponent in November will be either Ronnie Thompson, the law-and-order mayor of Milledgeville, or Harold Dye, a political newcomer who gave him a hot race.

There also was a political oddity in North Dakota, where Guy won the Democratic senatorial nomination in a primary, contest with Robert McCarney.

McCarney, then a Republican, lost to Guy in the 1968 governorship election and switched parties in 1971. Guy now must run against Republican Sen. Milton Young, who has held his seat since 1945 and was unopposed for re-nomination.

Scientists worry over experiments

LONDON (UPI)—Influential scientists are expressing increasing alarm about the danger of genetic experiments unleashing a global plague as perilous to mankind as nuclear war.

In recent months, scientific groups in Britain and the United States have warned of the threat of genetic experiments aimed at changing the structure of bacteria.

In the United States, the eminent biologist temporarily suspended their moratorium on research in the National Academy of Sciences urged scientists everywhere to halt work on genetic engineering.

In Britain, the Medical Research Council has called for a temporary halt in all efforts to change the character of bacteria until the risks are known.

The British government asked Lord Ashby, a distinguished scientist, to head an inquiry into the dangers of genetic experiments with bacteria.

Madam, real estate expert win

FRENO, Nev. (UPI)—Two women, a working madam and a real estate expert—won key races in Tuesday's Nevada primary.

So did Gov. Mike O'Callaghan and former Gov. Paul Laxalt.

Democrat O'Callaghan was renominated for a second term. Final returns showed that he outpolled his five opponents combined.

He will face Shirley Crumpler, 39, of Las Vegas, the first woman to be nominated for governor in the state's history.

Mrs. Crumpler, who runs a tax consulting and real estate firm, said her victory shows that "Nevada, like all of America, is searching for new values, new priorities and alternative directions."

Laxalt beat two lightly regarded opponents for the GOP Senate nomination.

He will face Lt. Gov. Harry Reid, an O'Callaghan protégé, who dined off his help and environmental champion Maya Miller by about a 2-1 margin in the Democratic primary.

The victorious madam was red-haired Beverly Harrell, proprietor of Southern Nevada's well-known "Cottontail Ranch."

Laxalt, now a hotel-casino owner in Carson City, caused gripping among GOP leaders when he left politics after one term.

He had won wide support as chief executive since it was during his term that billionaire Howard Hughes came to Nevada and made huge investments in the state.

In their victory statements, both Laxalt and Reid made a pitch for the liberal supporters of Mrs. Miller.

Bob Rose of Reno won the Democratic bid for lieutenant governor while State Sen. William Rieggle of Reno won the GOP nomination in a close race with Rex Bell of Las Vegas, whose father was the late Western movie hero and mother was Clara Bow, the one-time "It Girl."

Newark police restore calm to wrecked streets

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Riot-equipped police and heavy rains helped bring calm to city streets late Tuesday, after three days of civil disorder. Police and crowds at angry residents from Puerto Rican neighborhoods have battered the streets off on Sunday.

Twelve policemen have been injured and 31 persons arrested during the series of demonstrations. "Riot police" snatched "rioters" from the streets, burning of squad cars and smashed windows by protesters who allege police brutality.

Mayor Kenneth A. Gibson, who has been meeting with local Puerto Rican leaders, placed a ban on all demonstrations Tuesday. Early today the mayor said the city was calm, business would be conducted as usual, but extra police would remain on patrol.

We would like to emphasize that continued reinforced police patrols will be in effect and the only extraordinary measure will be the continued ban on street demonstrations," Gibson said.

He appealed for residents to observe his ban on demonstrations, but said no curfew had been ordered—in the city. Tuesday night, police described the appeal for cooperation with the ban as a curfew.

The disturbance broke out Sunday when police tried to break a dice game at a Spanish festival in a park. Several police cars were set on fire and three persons were shot during the disturbance.

The city has been plagued with sporadic looting and rock and bottle throwings in the downtown area since then.

Police, armed with rifles and shotguns, kept a heavy patrol in troubled areas of the city all day Tuesday, putting down sporadic outbreaks of violence.

But in the evening a torrential rain storm struck the city, sending most demonstrators inside for shelter.

Purchase abilities shrinking

WASHINGTON (UPI)—While the administration considers whether to put more money "into relief" hunger abroad, the amount of food its money would buy is shrinking.

This is one of the difficulties facing government food policy makers as the State Department today hosts a meeting of non-governmental organizations preparing for the World Food Conference in Rome Nov. 5-16.

Domestic drought, world inflation, new demands for food from international customers and such catastrophes as floods in Bangladesh mean that even if the United States does decide to commit a proposed additional $500 million to Food for Peace, the money won't buy any more food.

The intent had been to increase the volume of food shipped overseas in the coming year by at least 40 per cent, said a Capitol Hill aide who is knowledgeable about government food activities.

"Now the same amount will just about maintain volume because of price increases and the other," he explained.

And it is by no means certain the White House will approve $500 million increase proposed earlier this year by Food for Peace officials, he added. Last year the United States spent about $1 billion on the Food for Peace program. A decision on any increased effort is expected soon.

Participants in the State Department meeting included church groups, international relief organizations and the World Hunger Action Coalition.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Buttz, Administrator Daniel Parker of the Agency for International Development, Edwin M. Martin, coordinator of U.S. participation in the United Nations conference at Rome, and other government officials were to discuss the Rome conference and attempt to build public support for U.S. initiatives there.

Woman aide picked

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Connecticut's first woman candidate for governor has, quite naturally, chosen a woman to direct her campaign.

Nancy Levinohn of Washington, D.C., administrative assistant to Rep. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., is taking leave of absence from her regular chores to lead her boss's campaign.

Miss Levinohn had been administrative aide to Mrs. Grasso since 1971.

Syria gets missiles

LONDON (UPI)—The Soviet Union has supplied Syria with ground-to-ground missiles that could hit the principal cities in Israel, allied defense sources said today.

The disclosure that Syria has the "missiles" follows Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's announcement that his forces possess weapons that could strike deep into Israeli territory.

In any new war, defense sources said, these developments suggest that medium range ground-to-ground missiles may play a big part in any new major Middle East war, shifting the present emphasis on air defense and antitank warfare.

The Soviet supplies—Egypt apparently received hers on the eve of or during last October's Middle East war but did not use them—were said to have given Syria an extremely dangerous weapon because of its threat to heavily populated areas in any new confrontation in the region.

The portrait of George Washington by Gilbert Stuart, which hangs in the East Room of the White House, is the oldest possession there. Brought to the executive mansion in 1800, it was saved by Dolly Madison when she escaped Washington in the wake of British troops in the War of 1812.

Charles at state rites

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI)—Prince Charles of Britain led the mourners today at the state funeral for New Zealand's Prime Minister Norman Kirk.

Thousands of New Zealanders stood in pouring rain outside Wellington's Anglican Cathedral to pay their respects to the prime minister, who died Saturday of a heart attack at age 51.

The casket was taken from the cathedral to Wellington Airport where it was flown to Christchurch for burial in his hometown, Waimate.

Michigan, Eastern teachers walk out

By United Press International

More than 5,000 teachers went on strike in Michigan Tuesday and scattered strikes hit other school systems from New England to Washington state.

In New York, the Yonkers Federation of Teachers, representing 1,825 teachers, rejected a "contract offer" Tuesday and pledged to strike the 20,000 student school system if no settlement is reached before the start of classes today.

"We're following our long-established policy of no contract, no work," said union President Walter Tice.

Teachers at North Haven, Conn., also took the no-contract, no-work stance, and gave the school board until the opening of classes today to come up with a proposal to avert the scheduled walkout.

Teachers in East Meadow, N.Y., set up picket lines Tuesday, as did teachers in Tacoma, Wash.

In Michigan, some 132,000 students got prolonged summer vacations as teachers staged strikes in 16 districts.

Nearly 71,000 students were idled by strikes in Detroit's suburban Wayne County, and 19,335 students had no teachers in Ann Arbor, Mich., either.

In Detroit's suburban Macomb County, about 21,300 students were affected by a strike. Other, smaller strikes were reported across the state.

Ford's son in favor of amnesty

YELLOWSTONE PARK — This fall he will return to Utah State University at Logan, where he expects to graduate in the spring with a bachelor's degree in forestry-recreation.

Ford said he talks regularly with his parents, but said he has not talked to his father as much since he became President.

He said it is good for the country that his father is President; but said it had put a strain on the entire family.

"For myself, I have mixed emotions about it," he said. "As for anyone else in the family, I'm not specifically sure."

He said his mother was "upset in a sense" that the President had decided to seek a full term in 1976.

On the subject of his own future, Ford said he had "no political goals" but added, "If the opportunity presents itself and the situation is right, I imagine anyone would follow up on it."

Secret Servicemen accompanying him to the park, but Ford said he is used to them and often doesn't realize they are around.

He said he wanted the country to "settle more into a routine" before a decision is made whether to prosecute former President Nixon.

Young Ford, the second oldest of the four Ford children, stood next to his palomino horse "Ranger," as he easily "licked" newsmen's questions in the nation's oldest national park.

"As a seasonal ranger, Ford enforces park rules and occasionally accompanies rangers on back-country trips to make sure rules are being followed."

Evel's counterpart holds speed record

TWIN FALLS — Land speed record holder Gary Gabelich of California has faced a career similar to daredevil Evel Knievel.

Gabelich sped to his record of 622.407 mph at the Bonneville Salt Flats in 1970 in the Blue Flame, a vehicle closely resembling Knievel's Skycycle S-2.

And like Knievel, Gabelich faced difficulties before he achieved renown for his skill and daring.

Like Knievel with the Skycycle, Gabelich's romance with the Blue Flame became a real passion.

The builders of the Blue Flame originally wanted Craig Breedlove, the man who held the record that Gabelich broke, to drive the speed machine.

But when no terms could be reached with Breedlove, another driver, Chuck Suh, was signed.

Gabelich, who was working as a test astronaut in the Apollo space program, didn't feel a chance at driving until a track accident claimed the life of Suh in a drag race in Illinois.

Vehicles bring bargain prices at county sale

TWIN FALLS — Bidders purchased vehicles at bargain prices Tuesday morning in a public auction conducted by the Twin Falls County commissioners.

The five automobiles sold for $25 each except the top scale, a 1965 model with all of its windows which brought $50. A county mower also offered for sale brought $145 to bring the total sales to $495.

Commissioner Chairman

man, Gabelich had worked up from a $1.20 per hour job in the North American Rockwell mail room through jobs as a statistician and a planning engineer.

But he couldn't wait to escape into the world of speed. Like Knievel, Gabelich seemed to feel that speed — and the daring that goes with it — was an escape, a venture into the new, the unexplored, and the singular.

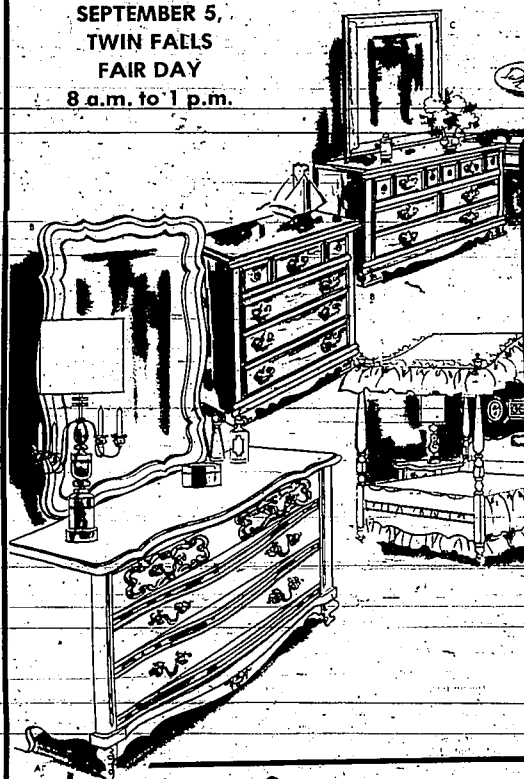

Like Knievel, Gabelich has not achieved his goal without pain. He spent only one day in the hospital after an accident in 1976 where his suit caught fire. After that day, he was back to land-and-water racing, setting a National Drag Boat Association record of 300.43 mph.

Also like Knievel, problems with the vehicle plagued Gabelich, including technical difficulties and a fire in the machine.

But just as Knievel says, perseverance will win the day on Sept. 8, Gabelich too felt it would get him his record. And it did.

Ford pool eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday the matter of building a swimming pool for President Ford is under "serious consideration" and a decision will be made in a week or two.

White House press secretary J. Patrick Flaherty said many groups in the country are anxious to assist in the project and to help provide the President with a pool.

The said "feasibility and security" studies are now under way by White House advisers under the direction of Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig.

"We hope within a week or two we will have something more definitive," said Flaherty.

Ford has made it clear that no federal funds will be used for the project. Several groups including the National Institute of Swimming Pool Firms, citizens of Ford's native Grand Rapids, Mich., and others have offered to build the pool.

Preliminary plans indicate that the pool may be built where the air-conditioned White House kennels are now located — an area shielded by trees and shrubs from public view.

Ford surely misses the pool at his Alexandria, Va., home where he routinely took a dip in the morning and evening. He made up for lost time at Camp David this weekend, where there are two pools, after more than a week without swimming.

Former President Richard Nixon covered the indoor White House pool to provide space for building the press center in 1969. The pool was built in 1932 for $22,000 collected from schoolchildren under a campaign sponsored by the New York Daily News.

It was built for the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, a polio victim who needed to exercise. A White House outdoor heated pool would cost much more today. Present planning calls for a plastic top over the pool and one of the major problems would be security. It would have to be protected at all times on the White House grounds.

Arson possible

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — A lightning bolt destroyed a $40,000 airplane used to fly the rock group "The Doobie Brothers" around the country may have been the work of an arsonist, the owner of the plane says.

The 44-seat, twin-engine Cessna named the "Doobiecliner" landed at Norfolk Regional Airport late Sunday prior to a scheduled concert at the Portsmouth Stadium.

As the plane was being refueled, ground mechanics saw smoke and flames and called in the airport's fire team.

Eight fire units responded, but were unable to save the plane. Fire officials called it a total loss and said they suspected the fire started from a short circuit in the electrical system. No one was hurt.

The plane's owner-pilot, Sam Stewart, said he disconnected the plane's battery after landing and was sure someone had started the fire.

"I think somebody set fire to it," Stewart said. "There wasn't any electricity in it."

The luxuriously appointed craft was leased to the Doobie Brothers.

Officials at Portsmouth Stadium said a disappointing crowd of 6,700 turned out for the Doobie Brothers show, far less than the 14,000 expected.

Church sets open house

TWIN FALLS — Sen. Frank Church will host an open house at Church headquarters, 134 Shoshone St., in Twin Falls today from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Church and his wife, Bethune, will meet personally with Twin Falls residents at the event. Refreshments will be served.

Church will again meet with area residents all day Thursday at the courthouse. Any interested residents may have a personal interview with Church on Thursday.

Thursday night the senator plans to attend the Twin Falls County Fair.

Break-ins reported

TWIN FALLS — Eaker Woodruff, Buhl, told police sometime three weeks through the window at Mawerick's Self Service, Twin Falls, and entered into the building.

The incident was reported early Wednesday morning. Miss Woodruff told officers someone took a number of sandwiches from the cooler and caused damage to the gum machine. An inventory is being taken to determine other missing items.

Byron Bradshaw, 225 Eighth Ave. N., told police someone broke into his automobile Tuesday night while it was parked in front of his home and took a tape deck and 25 tapes. He estimated loss at $170.

8-year sentence given

BURLEY — A 46-year-old Burley man was sentenced to eight years in the Idaho State Penitentiary on a third charge of burglary.

Jack Russell Wright was sentenced in Fifth District Court after he pleaded guilty to the charge. The $43.14 check was written to Boyd's Lounge, Burley, last spring.

Rupert man sentenced

RUPERT — Kim Buhel, 23, Rupert, was sentenced Friday to four years in the Idaho State Penitentiary on a charge of delivery of heroin.

Fifth District Judge Sherman Bellwood retained 120-day jurisdiction in the case. Buhel's probation on an earlier charge of burglary, in connection with the Skyline Bar break-in was suspended.

Other charges, including delivery and possession of marijuana, were dismissed. Buhel's attorney, Golden Bennett, has filed notice of appeal in the case.

Assurance welcomed

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, says he welcomed personal assurance from President Gerald Ford that he would cooperate in ending 44 years of emergency government in Washington.

Church told University of Idaho law students he expects the next session of Congress to place a high priority on ending the government by emergency powers.

Only one bid

BOISE (UPI) — A Spokane, Wash., firm was the only company to submit a bid for widening and paving U.S. Highway 10 at Post Falls.

The Idaho Transportation Department said Tuesday the Inland Asphalt Co. submitted a bid of $128,000.

20 acres burn

SHOSHONE — A range fire, 10 miles northeast of Hildreth, burned 20 acres Tuesday afternoon.

Michael Green, public information officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Shoshone office, said the man-caused fire started at 3:30 p.m. and was controlled by 5:40 p.m.

Three tankers and one shovel crew were dispatched from the Shoshone office with a total of 21 men fighting the blaze.

Green warns that the range is extremely dry at this time and cautions the public to be careful with cigarettes or any other burning matter.

Park speaks at fair

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (UPI) — Attorney General W. Anthony Park cited the working relationship of Idaho farmers and certain state agencies for helping the state's agriculture industry.

Park, at the eastern Idaho State Fair Tuesday, said the relationship among the farmers, Department of Agriculture, the governor and attorney general is the best in the history of the state.

"Four years ago the Department of Agriculture lacked real muscle because it lacked competent legal assistance," he said. "Since that time my office has provided a full-time attorney for the department to carry on its work."

Party switch

POCATELLO (UPI) — State Rep. Wayne Loveless, Pocatello, became the fourth Democrat in recent years to switch to the Republican party.

Loveless announced his change in Affiliations Tuesday, leaving the door open for the GOP Central Committee meeting in Pocatello that night to nominate Loveless to the Dist. 31 legislative position on the Republican ballot.

In changing parties, Loveless said he had found it difficult to support the increasingly liberal party platform of the Democrats.

Trial reset

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge W.E. Smith has reset for Dec. 10-13 the rape and kidnapping trial of Michael Highower, 24.

Highower had been judged mentally incompetent to stand trial on two other rape charges and was confined to a mental health unit at the state prison when he escaped last December.

Following the college code, Highower allegedly kidnapped and raped a Boise college coed.

Records ordered 'open'

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge J. Ray Durtsch has ordered the Idaho Endowment Fund Investment Board to open its records to the public.

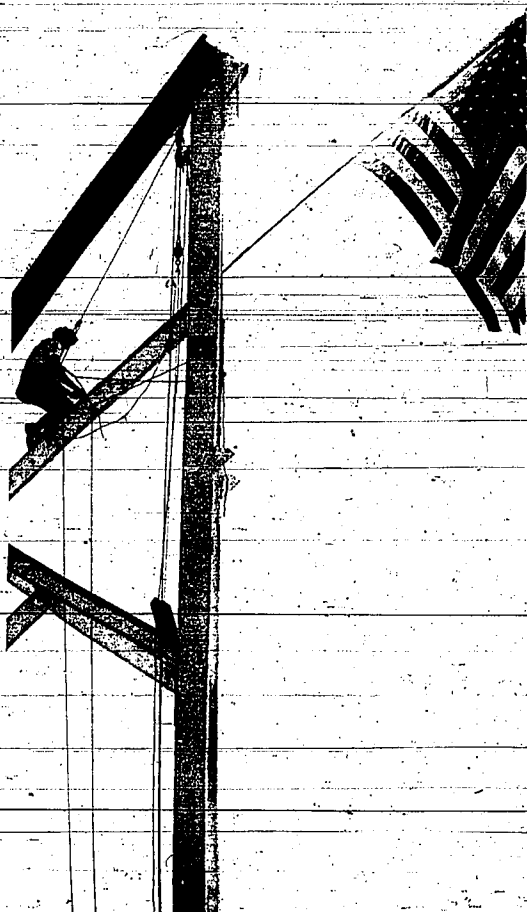

Durtsch's ruling, handed down in a case brought by the Idaho statesman, also opens public access to other records kept by the board and other public agencies which were not specifically considered in the lawsuit.

The Statesman brought the suit after a reporter was refused information by a representative of the board.

2 adults arrested

BURLEY — Two adults arrested on July 29 raid by Cassia County law enforcement officers pleaded not guilty Monday in Fifth District Court.

Jay Sufso, 27, Ogden, Utah, and Stephen Ceadar, 23, Rupert, were two of the four adults arrested in a raid on a house south of Burley which netted several pounds of drugs and firearms, according to police officers. A homemade bomb was also found during the raid.

Narcs to aid officers

TWIN FALLS — A special contingent of narcotics agents will be in Twin Falls during Evel Knievel's jump week to assist local law enforcement officers.

Merrill Kelley, special agent in charge of the Twin Falls area, said Tuesday the extra coverage would be brought in for the event, but declined to reveal the total number of agents or the days they would arrive.

Agents from both the narcotics Bureau and the police services division of the Department of Law Enforcement will be brought in to bolster the area's complement of men.

Kelley emphasized the men would be in the area to assist local law enforcement officers with narcotic investigations. The men will work in cooperation with local law officers, Kelley said.

State Director Wilbert Penberthy said the bureau was sending the agents in as a "usual precautionary measure observed with a large gathering of people."

Riggs, Knievel place $25,000 bet

TWIN FALLS — Bobby Riggs and Evel Knievel have a $25,000 bet that Riggs cannot ride a small motorcycle from Las Vegas, Nev. to Twin Falls by the time Knievel jumps the Canyon Sunday.

The bet was formalized in Twin Falls Tuesday, as the two publicity lovers cavorted for newsmen and promoters.

Riggs gets the bucks if he makes it to Twin Falls through 500 miles of Nevada and Idaho desert on a motorcycle smaller than 200 cc by Sunday at 2:30 p.m. If he doesn't — Knievel is the winner.

If he started today, Riggs had about 125 miles to go a day to make it in time. The odds don't seem too tough.

Zoning change ordinance set

TWIN FALLS — An ordinance to allow a zone change on 10 acres of land south of Heyburn and east of Madrona Street was placed on first reading by the Twin Falls City Council members.

The council placed the ordinance on first reading following a public hearing at which one property owner protested a zone change pending a full report on development plans.

The 10 acres of land is owned by Phillip C. Uhlig and is being developed by Craig Nielsen. Nielsen told the council he had requested a zone change and also a zone variance to allow him to build condominiums and apartments on the land.

Planning and zoning board members recommended granting the zone change because the property has been unsuitable for development for low-density housing. The change is approved later will be to medium density.

Tom Schaefer, zoning board chairman, asked the council to act on the zone change to eliminate another hearing before his group, and to act later on the variance request since the public hearing was advertised for the zone change only.

Margaret Struthers, property owner in the area, protested multiple housing and questioned the quality of proposed buildings.

The council passed, on third and final reading, an ordinance allowing Shelby Enterprises Inc. to construct additional mobile home space on its Fliler Avenue West property. The firm, presently owns Caswell Mobile Court.

Council members granted a request from Kirkman Brothers to delay curb and gutter installation along its property on Diamond Street, but requested the property owner smooth up cuts he made on the south Park Avenue side without city approval and stipulated he obtain city approval on any further installations and changes.

City Manager Jean Miller was authorized to call for bids on electronic data processing equipment for the city offices. This will be used to handle water and sanitation billing and in the city's bookkeeping program. Bids will be opened Oct. 11.

The preliminary plat of the Gem Industrial subdivision where Fred Wenzendorf plans to erect a tractor and farm equipment building was approved by the council.

Burley OK's bid

BURLEY — The Burley City Council accepted the bid by the John Deere Co. for a tractor at the Tuesday night council meeting.

Elliot's Inc., submitted the bid of $5,195 for the tractor. Four other bids were offered.

The council passed a resolution to install a signal light at the intersection of Overland Avenue and Alfresco Road, Idaho Highway Department and federal authorities will participate in the cost of the signal.

The intersection is posted with stop signs on Alfresco Road.

Idaho Guard ready as back-up force

By CRICKET BIRD
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — National Guard units with 500 men will be available for weekend of Twin Falls' jump in case law enforcement officers need a back-up force.

The cost to the state will be about $25,000.

Col. Sam Magaw, regimental commander, said all Magic Valley units would be on inactive duty training from Friday evening to Sunday afternoon. Each unit, including Burley's, Rupert, Gooding, Buhl, Jerome and Twin Falls, will be stationed at its home station, with overnighters Friday and Saturday.

Magaw said, "We certainly don't anticipate that we're going to be called on this thing. We don't think there's going to be that kind of trouble," but added the guardsmen would be ready to go.

Equipment, including batons, or night sticks, face protector masks, gas masks and protective vests, is available for 250 men. All guardsmen have had riot training, Magaw said. A minimum of eight hours of refresher training is required yearly, and the men have just finished the brush up course.

The guardsmen would also have both two and half-ton and five-ton trucks, military jeeps and about 11 National Guard helicopters available for transport, Magaw said.

Magaw said guardsmen would not be issued lethal weapons which initially called up, but rifles and other weapons would be available if needed.

The inactive duty training is a federal status, Magaw said. If the men were needed for a civil disturbance, an emergency proclamation would be issued by the governor to transfer them to active status duty.

Magaw said the governor was alerted in the possible need, for an emergency proclamation and added the procedure for obtaining the order had been coordinated between local sheriffs, Adj. Gen. George Bennett, commanding officer for the Idaho guard, and the governor. Bennett will be in Twin Falls during the weekend drill.

The force could be mobilized within 30 minutes, Magaw said. If mobilized, it would require more than one hour for all the men to reach the site, he said.

The guard also has five ambulances, and one medical helicopter, which could be employed for civilians. If all civilian facilities and vehicles were under use, Magaw said.

Unless the guardsmen are called out, Idaho taxpayers will not pay their salaries, Magaw said. An inactive duty training drill is regularly held the first or second weekend of the month, with the federal government footing the bill, he said.

If the guard were committed, however, the state would have to pick up the tab, probably reaching into the governor's emergency fund. Magaw estimated the cost would be approximately $40 per day per man. With a rough total of about $25,000.

Ketchum City Council votes to close saloon

KETCHUM — The Crazy Horse Saloon was closed permanently by a 2-1 vote of the Ketchum City Council Tuesday night.

The closure debate had been going since June when neighboring citizens began to complain about loud noise from the saloon. Citizens also complained about a T-shirt sent this spring, which in the words of Chris DuPont, saloon operator, got carried away with rude obscenity dancing on stage.

DuPont agreed to close the saloon for a month after the incident. However, residents began to complain to police after music again started in the saloon. Billie Thompson, a local real estate sales person, wrote a letter to Governor Andrus, Idaho Senators Church and McClure and the state police commissioner concerning Ketchum problems.

Last month 17 names were obtained and a nuisance petition to close the Crazy Horse because of noise was presented to the council by Betty Lavery. The council did not vote on the petition. They wrote a letter to all bar owners warning them to obey all laws.

Searchers seek Gooding boys

GOODING — Two boys, Thomas Mink, 8, and Oren Norris, 9, both Gooding, have been missing since 6 p.m. Tuesday, the Gooding sheriff's office reported today.

Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Mink and Oren is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Norris.

The boys were last seen playing in an area north of Gooding. After the boys did not return home, Mrs. Mink notified neighbors. Searchers found the two boys' bikes but "no trace" of the boys. Loretta Summers, spokesman for the Mink family, reported.

Thomas was clothed in Levi's and tennis shoes, but no shirt. Oren was wearing cut-offs without shoes or shirt when last seen.

The sheriff's office was notified about the missing boys about 9 p.m. Mrs. Summers reported, after the efforts of searching neighbors had been unsuccessful.

Family, neighbors, sheriff's officers and a helicopter are continuing the search for the boys.

The petition was re-submitted last night and Mrs. Lavery asked the council to vote. She told the council the city ordinance said all offensive noise or other objectional influences had to be controlled.

She said the Crazy Horse was different from Main Street bars and that the council had passed the buck to the police department too many times.

She said the people in the Crazy Horse will provide their own shows even if the falls are scheduled for them.

"We are not a church group against liquor," she said. "My husband works in a bar. We just deserve a peaceful neighborhood, we would all like a good night's sleep."

Mrs. Lavery then asked councilwoman Martha Poltevin be disqualified from discussion of a vote on the matter. Ms. Poltevin is employed by a Ketchum weekly newspaper as an ad sales woman.

Mrs. Lavery objected to Ms. Poltevin's picture running in a July ad for the Crazy Horse Saloon. She contended since Ms. Poltevin's salary was derived in part from ad sales she was prejudiced.

The council asked five nearby neighbors if noise had gone down since the letter had been sent by the council. Mrs. Lavery said after the first few days the noise was back to its original level.

Listed critical

TWIN FALLS — A 19-year-old Massachusetts youth is in critical condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today following a Jeep accident on the Shoshone Falls grade.

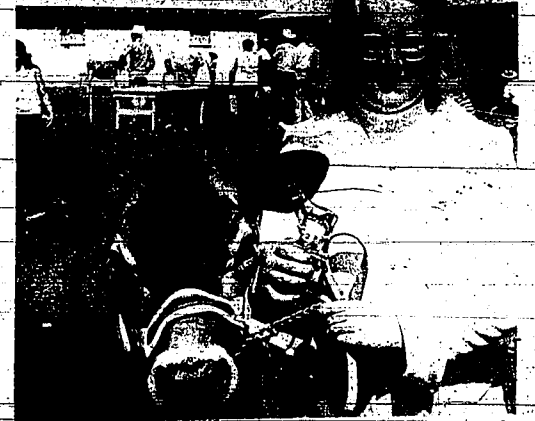

Jerry Brooks, 19, underwent surgery for removal of his spleen. He suffered severe liver damage when the Jeep in which he and four other youths were riding left the falls road and rolled over.

Also hospitalized in jail in good condition is Rickie Harold, 24, Houston, Tex. Sheriff's officers investigated the accident. Details were not immediately available.

Dennis Haynes, police chief, said the noise was not a problem when officers drive by. He said, however, he is still receiving some complaints about the Crazy Horse.

Brammen moved to close the Crazy Horse permanently. Councilmen Phil Puchner seconded but wanted to amend the motion to the first of the year. The amendment died for the lack of the second.

Ms. Poltevin told Mrs. Lavery she would not disqualify herself. She said the picture in the ad was put in without her knowledge. She said she was sorry. In addition she said her salary was not derived from any of the ads.

1st place winner

PROUD dairy winner, Marlene Allen, Twin Falls, won first place in the intermediate division with her Jersey heifer, Buttons, at the Twin Falls County Fair. She competed in 12-to-13-year-old competition.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices opened lower in moderate trading Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed at 117.17, down 0.66 from the previous day's close.

On Tuesday the blue chip indicator lost 13.25 points, after climbing about five points the first hour of trading. The early advance was an apparent continuation of Friday's upswing which carried the Dow 21.72 points higher on hopes the Federal Reserve may relax its tight monetary policy. But the first-hour rally collapsed following a statement by a top economic adviser in the Ford administration that the dollar would be weaker than expected.

First National City Bank's decision to raise interest charges on installment loans, including auto loans, also fueled inflationary fears.

Accident injures Cash youth

HENDERSONVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — The four-year-old son of country music superstar Johnny Cash and June Carter was among seven persons injured Monday when a Jeep hit a mud puddle, swerved and overturned.

The accident occurred near the driveway of entertainer Bud Luman, only 100 yards from Cash's palatial home on the shores of Old Hickory Lake.

State Trooper Billy Mason said John Carter Cash appeared to be the most seriously injured and was rushed to Vanderbilt Hospital at nearby Nashville.

Colorado aide raps shale critics

DENVER (UPI) — Acting Lt. Gov. Ted Strickland Tuesday attacked critics of the oil shale industry in Colorado as making "inaccurate, unsubstantiated, and even wild" statements about the impact shale development will have on the state.

The shale-rich lands of western Colorado are important to the economic well-being of the state, Strickland said, and will help Colorado residents weather difficult economic times ahead.

"Adequate jobs and runaway inflation are the key issues today, and the dire forecast is that we are headed for eight to 10 years of difficult economic times," the Republican said. "It is therefore unfortunate that all shale development in Colorado has been singled out for attack."

Strickland, who is seeking the GOP lieutenant governor nomination, said because Colorado was blessed with abundant natural resources, the state was in an excellent position to weather difficult economic times.

"We're talking about lots of jobs — good jobs — at a time when these are difficult to find in many parts of the nation," he said.

"Colorado proceeded to develop its resources on a wise and prudent basis, be it oil, shale, coal, geothermal or whatever, this state is not headed for disaster or being sacrificed for the national good," he said.

Strickland said with intelligent early understanding and planning for industrial and off-site impacts, Colorado could become one of the most economically sound states in the nation.

Strickland said facts, supplied largely by the shale industry, differed widely from statements made by some of the candidates seeking election this year.

The figures of 1 million to 5 million barrels of oil per day being produced by 1983 have been thrown around by self-styled "experts," he said. "Those are wild numbers being used in the attempt to frighten people."

On the question of water, Strickland said only 20,000 acre-feet of water will be needed for initial development.

Pros move into Knievel's motocross on Thursday

Evil Knave's record-breaking motocross gets underway in earnest Wednesday and the pros move in Wednesday.

Thursday's "rim-to-rim" days start his crescendo to Sunday's finale. Some 150 amateurs roared around the motocross course at the base of the daredevil's launch pad Tuesday to qualify for Wednesday afternoon's limos, and track and a couple of other minor factors led the sanctioning AMA to stop the qualifying races before completion.

A couple of consolation rides were slated for Wednesday morning with the finals kicking off at noon.

The qualifying rounds closed the number of finalists to 30 in each of the three classifications.

The professionals will take to the course Thursday morning, bringing some of the best in the world to Twin Falls. They will find the course a little different than the July 4, 1973 extravaganza.

Two large humps have been placed in the serpentine track, replacing the one jump of yesteryear. And the racers will be going in the opposite direction if they follow the amateur format.

The $100,000 prize purse Knave has put up for this competition brings the aristocracy of motocross racing here. It includes Gary Gans, California, who won the 1973 motocross championship in 1972 and 73. Young Brad Lackey, another Californian, is back as last year's national champion and he finished 10th in the 1973-74 500 cc motocross standings.

The 1974 500 cc motocross king, Heikki Mikkola, Finland, and Roger DeCoster, 1971-72-73 world champion in the 500 cc class, will provide plenty of competition for the two Americans.

The competition was heavy between Jones and Lackey when they last collided on this course. After the final race, Lackey offered to punch Jones for crowding on the track.

Jones' victory that day was deemed the high point for Yamaha at that time, Lackey was riding prototypes for Kawasaki.

The Redskins acquired Thomas before the 1973 season for a No. 1 draft pick in 1973 and a No. 2 choice in 1974. He saw only limited action behind Larry Brown and Charlie Harraway, but was virtually assured of a starting job when Harraway jumped to the World Football League.

Thomas led the Redskins rushers in 1970 and 1971, his first two seasons as a pro player, and ran for 95 yards in the Cowboys' 24-3 Super Bowl VI win over Miami.

Despite his brilliance as a runner, Dallas tried to trade him to New England, and when Thomas wrecked that trade by walking out of training camp, the Cowboys dealt him to the San Diego Chargers where he never played.

Thomas led the Redskins rushers in 1970 and 1971, his first two seasons as a pro player, and ran for 95 yards in the Cowboys' 24-3 Super Bowl VI win over Miami.

Despite his brilliance as a runner, Dallas tried to trade him to New England, and when Thomas wrecked that trade by walking out of training camp, the Cowboys dealt him to the San Diego Chargers where he never played.

The Redskins acquired Thomas before the 1973 season for a No. 1 draft pick in 1973 and a No. 2 choice in 1974. He saw only limited action behind Larry Brown and Charlie Harraway, but was virtually assured of a starting job when Harraway jumped to the World Football League.

Newcombe wins way into U.S. open quarterfinals

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — Defending champion John Newcombe, the scion of victory in his 1968 U.S. Open tennis title, won his way into the quarterfinals of the U.S. Open tennis championship where he was joined by two former winners, Arthur Ashe and Ken Rosewall.

Also through to the quarters for the second successive year was India's unseeded Vijay Amritraj, who is headed for another meeting with Rosewall.

Top-seeded Jimmy Connors and the 1971 champion, Stan Smith, along with the other seeds in the top half of the draw, were idle, as were all girls who play their quarterfinal matches on Wednesday.

Newcombe, the second seed here and twice winner of the title, defeated unseeded Ilie Năstase of Romania, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5; Rosewall, the fifth seed who was champion in 1954 and 1970, trimmed 16th seeded Raul Ramirez of Mexico, 6-1, 6-7, 7-5, 6-3; Ashe, the eighth seed who won the title in 1968, beat ninth seeded Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5, while Amritraj took his second seeded player, 11th seeded Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

After the pressure cooker atmosphere of the first six days of the $271,700 tournament the players had to deal with a brief rain shower, a swirling wind which gusts from time to time and periods of bad light. Under the circumstances, unforced errors were the rule rather than the exception while the players also had to deal with hot bounces from grass courts which resembled cow pastures.

But in the clutch, the men who've already traveled the championship route had the shots to match the conditions, the three former winners all recording their easiest victories of the tournament.

Redskins reinstate Thomas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Duane Thomas, the talented running back whose antics have made him one of pro football's most controversial players, was reinstated as a Washington Redskins Tuesday, only a week after he was summarily dumped for threatening a coach.

Coach George Allen, 60, in saying "The future is now" while trading high draft picks for aging but capable veterans, used the same logic in explaining why he had decided to take Thomas back despite "This was a very difficult decision," said Allen. "My first consideration was for the team. Duane can help us win now. He has made so much progress I want to give him a second chance."

Allen announced last week he was putting Thomas on waivers as a result of a yelling match in which Thomas accused backfield coach Charlie Walker of being a "gray-haired, white racist."

Thomas shoved him into a wall, grabbed him by the collar and challenged him to a fight.

Thomas led the Redskins rushers in 1970 and 1971, his first two seasons as a pro player, and ran for 95 yards in the Cowboys' 24-3 Super Bowl VI win over Miami.

Despite his brilliance as a runner, Dallas tried to trade him to New England, and when Thomas wrecked that trade by walking out of training camp, the Cowboys dealt him to the San Diego Chargers where he never played.

Pitts' discussions with WFL prompted trade to Raiders

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns, said Tuesday the main reason he traded veteran wide receiver Frank Pitts to the Oakland Raiders for a high draft choice was because "we have reasons to believe Frank is coming back."

"Frank, through his agent Abner Haynes, did not want to talk about a new contract this year," Modell said. "We're trying to build a solid base here, and the only way is by having contracted players."

Pitts, a 6-foot-2, 195-pounder from Southern University, did not deny playing out his option and possibly going to the World Football League.

"I've been talking to the other league through my agent," admitted Pitts, and said he knew the possibility of his being traded was being discussed. "I'm going to call him again shortly."

Pitts, 30, picked up by the Browns in a trade three years ago from Kansas City, where he earned carries in the 1970 Super Bowl led the Chiefs to an upset 23-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings, has not

Blood clot hits Shumate

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The Phoenix Suns announced Tuesday that John Shumate, their No. 1 draft choice this year, has been admitted to Good Samaritan Hospital because of a small blood clot affecting his left lung.

Team physician Dr. Paul Steingard said the problem was "not nearly as serious" as a rare blood disorder which caused Shumate to miss his sophomore season at Notre Dame and endangered his life. Steingard said it was significant "that they had caught the problem early."

Pays price

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Memphis State's starting quarterback said Tuesday he expects to hear 36,000 people shouting "don't look Elmer" when he takes the field in Louisville for the Tiger opener Saturday night.

"I even caught it (the yell) in our own spring game," David Fowler said. "So I know I'll hear about it on the road."

The 6-4, 210-pound senior was apprehended by a campus policeman when he streaked by a MSU women's dormitory last spring wearing only a smile.

The "don't look, Elmer" line comes from a country music song about streakers.

Jack second on cash list

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, with his second tournament victory of the year, has gone over the $200,000 mark in earnings to move into second place on the 1974 money list.

Nicklaus received $80,000 for his success in the Tournament Players' Championship at Atlanta during the Labor Day weekend, boosting his total for the year to $208,307.

Johnny Miller, a six-time winner in 1974, continues to lead the money list with $256,383. Hubert Green remained third in earnings with $183,415 while Lee Trevino dropped from second to fourth with $180,099. In fifth place is Dave Stockton with $152,341.

Gene Littler, who was fourth in the TPC, became the eighth million dollar winner on the tour with career earnings of $1,000,354.

Packer obtains new center

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers acquired veteran center John Schmidt from the New York Jets Tuesday, putting new pressure on regular Packer center Ken Bowman.

There have been rumors that Bowman is on his way out as a Packer because of his position as the Packers' player representative and his militant stance during the recent players' strike.

The Packers say Bowman, who won a starting job as a rookie 11 years ago and never gave it up, is unable to play because of a back injury. However, Bowman has defied a team physician's orders and reported to workouts with the club at its training camp here.

seen action in a single exhibition game this season. Because of the NFL Players' Association strike and a pulled hamstring, he had virtually no training camp with the Browns and was the last veteran to report to camp three weeks ago when the maratorium was called.

"We were also concerned about his leg and his possibly jumping to the World Football League," said head Coach

Nick Skorich, miffed because the Raiders announced the trade before he had an opportunity to tell Pitts about it.

"And with the progress of Steve Holden, since he's our starter now, we figured Frank wouldn't be satisfied to just sit on the bench."

Modell and Skorich both emphasized that the trading of Pitts, the team's player representative, had nothing to do with the strike.

Intrepid sets 1977 trial date

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Wood-hulled Intrepid, old lady among the fleet of 12 major yachts, will return in 1977 with her "nickel, dime and dollar" West Coast effort in quest of an elusive third America's Cup defense.

"We'll be back in 1977. There are lots of things to be decided, but we are struck by America's Cup fever and would like to be back again," syndicate manager Eustace "Sonny" Vyne of Seattle said Tuesday.

He appeared undaunted by the selection of aluminum hulled Courageous as 1974 Cup defender against the challenge of Australia's Southern Cross, starting Sept. 10.

Courageous was picked over the 1967 and 1970 defender after the closest selection series in the competition's 121-year history.

She was hailed at Newport shipyard for official measurement by an international committee and refurbishing her light in hull.

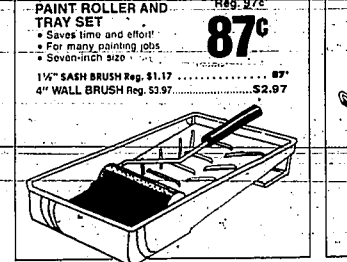

The Courageous crew took the day off. The defender was to return to the water by Thursday with at least two days of practice played against Intrepid to evaluate sails and crew work, according to navigator "Halley" Herreshoff.

Southern Cross spent the day out in the choppy Atlantic, practicing with trial horse Gretel II. The unsuccessful 1970 foreign challenger.

tractor carries female effigy and poster reading "The farmer's wife won't have anything to wear if this carries on." Other protests were conducted throughout Belgium. (UPI)

He interviewed these campers he found. He asked them such questions as where they came from, how long were they staying, whether or not the energy crises has had anything to do with their travels this summer, money spent in the country and across the state, size of family, education, income, occupation, age, and so on. Traffic counters and other data collecting devices were also used to help him.

Among those interviewed, Johnson said that he found few who indicated that the energy crises had much altered their vacation plans. Some did indicate that they traveled closer to home, however.

"While we're working up some preliminary data for use by the Forest Service," Dr. McNeely said, "we will not have fully analyzed all our data and submitted it to computer programming until later this year, perhaps in November or December."

Valley Living

Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR 'ABBY': I am only 29, and could write a book about my life, but nobody would believe it.

My mother died when I was eight, and I was passed around from relative to relative to raise. Somehow I was smart enough to realize that I had to get a good education in order to take care of myself, so I put myself through secretarial school.

I fell for a guy and let him move in with me. (Big mistake number one.) He really used me. It turned out he was on drugs, and soon he had a 540-day habit which nearly broke me, so I got rid of him—which wasn't easy. (Maybe I should mention that I weighed in the neighborhood of 235 at this point.)

Loses weight and her man

Then I met another guy and fell hard for him. We dated for three months and he said if I lost 100 pounds he would marry me—but he was ashamed of me the way I was.

In the last 13 months I lost 98 pounds; Abby. Last week he told me he changed his mind. He met someone else and was marrying her! I nearly lost my mind. I was so crushed and depressed I went on an eating binge. Thank God it lasted only two days.

Please tell me how to get over this blow, Abby. I've even considered suicide.

HEARTBROKEN IN L.A.

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: The L.A. Suicide Prevention Center has an excellent counseling program. Call them. Disappointed as you are, you have much to be grateful for. The man who "changed his mind" also changed your life by motivating you to lose nearly 100 pounds. Stick with that diet, and go to work on forgetting him. And count your blessings instead of your disappointments.

DEAR 'ABBY': Recently my husband and I were shopping in a department store. My husband purchased several pairs of slacks and I bought a suit.

My husband's slacks were a trifle too long, so the store made the necessary alterations at no charge.

However, I was charged for the alteration on my pants suit. I was told that as a matter of policy the store does not alter women's clothing free of charge. Only men's.

It seems to me that this is unfair. I think there should be equality in the treatment of both sexes. Please print this.

Maybe if this appears in your column merchants will see it and do something about it.

UPSET IN BIRMINGHAM

DEAR UPSET: Better not make waves, ma'am. If you scream too loudly for "equality," they may start charging MEN for alterations.

DEAR 'ABBY': Just heard you on CBS radio. You advised a lady who wanted to know what to say to someone who asked her a very personal question to say: "If you'll forgive me for not answering, I'll forgive you for asking."

That's much too polite, Ab. I have a better answer, which I have had to use only three times in the last 30 years. Each time I had to force myself to muster up the courage, but it completely disarmed the questioner.

I said: "If I thought it was any of your business, I'd tell you."

Believe me, it works like a charm. When people have the nerve to ask personal questions that offend, they deserve this kind of answer.

TO TIE A LONG-LONG SCARF

By Mary Sue Miller

The way yards of scarf wrapped Isadora, long-long mufflers wrap seasonal fashions. Designers, the lot of them, entwining the necklines of suits, dresses, jackets, sweaters and coats with various versions of the muffler, but all ways long. In addition, there are hat and scarf sets—go-togethers—for true.

A muffler may match a garment's color, blend or contrast. Wooly fabrics are the choicest; silky fall prints and fluid jersey look good with dresses made of silken fabrics.

But no matter how handsome you must be deft at tying a long scarf. You can smother it, and it can smother you. In general, soft draping at the throat, prevents the choked effect worked on so many short necks and plump faces. A twist or loop that flaps the ends to the side, front and back, seems to slim and lengthen the needy figure.

Designers make use of many delightful tricks. Rolled loosely across the throat with ends slipped under the coat collar on either side to float at the back; knotted low on the chest of a dress; crumpled around the throat, ends crossed in back and drawn forward over each shoulder; ends looped on one shoulder to fall backward and forward.

However you arrange your muffler, be sure it has zing and dash. For the day may arrive when you need it for warmth. But, if you make mummy wrappings of it, maybe you'd best stay home by the fireside.

KIMBERLY. Becky Posey and Rodney Reeves were married in an all-Idaho ceremony Aug. 31 at the Kimberly Christian Church.

Rev. James Keefe performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with two candles flanked by two large baskets of yellow and white gladioli, yellow chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a gown featuring a double white organza silk skirt over satin. The empire waist had a square neckline trimmed with lace. The lantern sleeves were closed at the wrist with wide cuffs. The dress had a full cathedral train falling from ruffles of lace and satin.

Her three-tier shoulder length veil of illusion was held by a band of organza covered with leaves and stephanotis. She carried a nosegay bouquet of stephanotis, yellow roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Vicki Posey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Molly Haulburg and Lynn Lundy were bridesmaids. Jennifer and Shannon Pope, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls.

Douglas Reeves, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Holly Haulburg and Mike Reeves, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Lindsey Posey, brother of the bride, and Bert and Dennis Heath, both uncles of the bridegroom. Bobby Reeves, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Rev. Howard Larson was soloist and Mrs. Greg Moore was accompanist.

The couple was honored at a reception following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church which was decorated in the bride's colors of yellow and white. Quartet tables were covered with white cloths and centered with brassy snifters holding green and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums.

The bride's table was covered with a yellow cloth and a white organza ruffled overgarb decorated with yellow bows. Crystal candleholders holding yellow tapers were placed on the table.

The three-tiered white wedding cake was centered over a fountain of yellow water. The cake was decorated with yellow roses and carnations and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Cupids and greenery were placed around the base of the cake and it was flanked with sweetheart cakes decorated to match the big cake and bearing the names of the couple.

Julie Dadds was in charge of the guest book. The gift tables were attended by Teresa and Sue Nauman, Sherie Stout and Jackie Presnell.

Mrs. Jerry Heath, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Douglas Reeves, sister-in-law and Cindy Stane, served punch and coffee.

Karl Nelson passed out yellow and white packets of rice to the guests.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Henth and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Reeves, grandparents of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Nettie Posey and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Posey, grandparents of the bride.

Out-of-town guests attended from Aberdeen, Challis, Eden

Twin Falls, Arizona, Oregon, Colorado and California.

The bride was honored at a kitchen shower with Irene Carol and Linda Heath as hostesses, at the Clarence Heath home. Miscellaneous showers were given by Mrs. George Nauman, Teresa and Sue Nauman and Vicki Posey at the Nauman home and by Jackie Presnell and Julie Dadds at the Dadds home.

After a wedding trip to Portland, Ore., the couple resides at 312 Main St., Kimberly.

SOMBREROS

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 package (1 1/2 oz.) taco seasoning mix
- 1 1/2 cups (16 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
- 2 tablespoons seedless raisins
- 1 package (8 1/2 oz.) refrigerated snowflake dinner rolls
- 1 cup crushed corn chips
- 9 green pepper rings
- 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 brown beef and stir in one-half package taco seasoning. Add combined cheese, eggs, olives and raisins.

Divide dough into 18 sections. Roll each section of dough on crushed corn chips to make a four inch circle. Place corn chips side up on a buttered baking sheet.

Measure one-third cup meat filling and shape into inverted cone on each circle. Top filling with remaining circles of dough, corn chip side up. Press edge down around filling. Seal with a fork. Place a green pepper ring over top of sombrero for the hand.

Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes. Heat tomato sauce and remaining taco seasoning to serving temperature. Spoon a tablespoon of sauce over each sombrero. Pass remaining sauce. Makes nine sandwiches.

Mini-Reviews

TWIN FALLS—The children's department of the Twin Falls Public Library has released mini-reviews for some of the new books recently received at the library.

"Felicia the Critic" by Ellen Conford. Every time Felicia made a critical comment, someone got mad or embarrassed. Even when she changed to constructive criticism she found herself still having problems. . . . until . . . "The Thing" by Evelyn Minshull. When problem after problem befalls New Freedom, they begin blaming them on a strange girl living near the bridge. Edna befriends her, only to be accused of witchery.

"The French Lieutenant" by Robert Church. When the Blackstock's move from London to the country, Robert is moody and withdrawn until he is confronted with the legendary ghost of a nearby castle.

"On Do, Missy Charlie" by Barbara Whiting. Charlotte finds out that being an American girl growing up in China is hard work.

"Bigfoot" by Hal G. Everts. When Dingo's grandfather is injured in an accident, he is forced to hire out as a hunting guide. After they are in their way, Professor Nash reveals he's looking for an elusive, creature known as Bigfoot.

"Nobody Like Trina" by Phyllis A. Whitney. When Phyllis moved from New York City to a house in the country, she found herself involved with the ecology of a nearby woods and the class rivalries in a small town school.

"Jasper the Drummer Boy" by Margaret Taylor. Jasper wanted to be a famous drummer like his grandfather, but his parents had other ideas. Nothing out of step blue from drumming, not even when he took his drums away. Finally he found the solution to his problem.

"That Crazy April" by Tim Rod. April Fool's Day brought the beginning of a very unusual month. Criss found herself having strained relations with her mother, problems with a teacher and participating in a fashion show.

"Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing" by Judy Blume. When you're in the fourth grade and played with a 3-year-old brother, anything can happen!

"The Green Hill of Nen-drum" by J. S. Andrews. Neil Ross was sailing his 12-foot dinghy "Cuan" around the lake islands of northern Ireland when he suddenly found himself transferred back in time to 10th century Ireland complete with monks and Vikings.

Miss Teen-ager

ATLANTA (UPI) — The new "Miss National Teen-ager" is 16-year-old Lisa Lyon of New Port Richey, Fla.

The high school senior competed with 50 other girls ranging in age from 14 to 18 to take the title of Atlanta Civic Center Saturday night.

Contestants were judged 50 per cent on beauty points and the rest on scholastics, poise and an essay competition on the topic, "what's right about America."

Karen Keatley, 16, of Beckley, W.Va., was first runner-up to Miss Lyon.

Corn crop decline could cause havoc

CHICAGO — The decline in this year's corn crop probably will raise the price of ham, burger and milk shakes, but greater havoc apparently will be wrought in the popcorn business.

"We're in a terrible crisis," said William Smith, executive director of the Popcorn Institute. "We're going to run out of popcorn."

The processors are trying to hold the price line because, historically, our product is known as an economical snack item. The consumer gets a lot for a penny, but there very definitely won't be enough to go around this year.

The prolonged drought in the corn belt led the agriculture department to drastically reduce its forecast of the corn crop.

It estimated it at 4.36 billion bushels — 12 per cent less than last year.

Corn is a key raw material in the production of milk, meat and poultry.

Smith explained that popcorn grown for human consumption is highly specialized, produces a smaller yield per acre and is more expensive than field corn.

with three good hearts but there was no way for East to get on lead.

South simply cashed the two high clubs dropping the queen and jack. Then he took his ace and queen of diamonds and continued clubs. West could ruff any time he wished, but would have to give dummy the rest of the tricks.

We don't approve of South's bidding and don't recommend such calls as a steady diet, but it really worked this time. Furthermore, the more normal contract of five clubs could be beaten by three heart leads with West trumping the third lead with his jack to set up a sure trump trick for East.

NEWS-SPRINTER ENTERPRISE ASSOCI.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South's one-spade bid was not quite as erratic as it appears at first glance. He didn't like the idea of an immediate jump to three clubs and he did want to make a forcing bid. Later on when North went from three clubs to three spades South decided to bid the spade game anyway. He thought that North would surely hold four spades and in any event South knew that his South was a very good dummy player.

West got off to his best lead — a small trump. The next four tricks were two hearts led and lost by South and two further trumps led by the defense. This left West with the last trump and East

THE IDAHO DEPARTMENT STORE — ON THE MALL — DOWNTOWN TWIN FALLS

TF miss, Kleinkopf exchange promises

TWIN FALLS — Patty Dodson and Kurt Kleinkopf were united in marriage Aug. 21 in the Carillon Chapel, Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Dodson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kleinkopf, both of Twin Falls. Rev. Ray Jones of the First Christian Church performed the double-ring ceremony. Organ music was by Mrs. Jack Cribb and soloist was Burton Smith.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the traditional low white gown which was trimmed with lace and seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of yellow roses, blue carnations and white daisies. The bride wore a matching arrangement of flowers in her hair. The matron of honor was Mrs. Rick Kearn, Boise. Best man was Bill Miller, Twin Falls. Ushers were Layne Dodson and Kelly Kleinkopf, brothers of the couple. The couple was honored at a reception following the wedding.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake and decorations were in the bride's color scheme of blue, yellow and white.

Assistants with the reception were Barbara Dodson, niece of the bride, registered guests, and Mrs. Richard McNew, Nampa, sister of the bride, and her daughter, Christy McNew, assisted with gifts. Other assistants were Stephanie Parker, Twin Falls, and Mrs. Richard Moon, Boise.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Dodson, Kimberly, grandparent of the bride; Mrs. L. B. Wald and Arthur Kleinkopf, both Twin Falls, grandparents of the bride and groom. The bride and groom were accompanied to the bridegroom by the bride's father, Mr. Mack Dodson, and the groom's father, Mr. Jerry Kleinkopf. The couple was honored at a reception following the wedding.

Tamperproof matches

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission says it wants to develop safety standards for hook matches, including possible ways to make them "child proof."

Commissioner R. David Pittle told a recent briefing that "special emphasis" will be placed in trying to find a way to make hook matches tamperproof where children are concerned. In addition, he said, there will be an attempt to reduce the number of injuries caused by living match heads, unexpected ignition and fires caused by the "afterglow of an extinguished match."

Kitchen-type matches or others which can be ignited on any surface are not involved in the project.

Commission figures show there are 11,000 emergency room cases every year caused by injuries related to all kinds of matches. But Pittle and other commissioners said they believe the number is low since injuries are sometimes listed as having been caused by fire, without reference to what caused the fire.

Home canning season in full swing

TWIN FALLS — The canning season is in full swing now as home crocks begin to ripen and fresh produce fills the grocery shelves.

As food prices soar more people are turning to their own gardens, converting the flowers to vegetables, and canning the results for a winter supply.

Home canning can really help on the family's year food budget but care must be taken to follow exact directions and procedures, for canning experiments could have tragic results.

Figures released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that between the period of 1922 and 1972, some 700 deaths were traced to botulism poisoning caused by improper home canning.

Beginning canners should review canning information and follow directions carefully. Mrs. Harvey (Nancy) Steers, special assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Earl W. Buttz for consumers affairs, strongly recommends that consumers follow the following guidelines to help guard against botulism:

Don't take shortcuts. Experiment in home canning. Use only tested, approved methods.

Use only jars, cans and lids made especially for home canning. Never use ordinary jars such as mayonnaise or coffee jars.

Do not reuse sealing lids. The rubber ring deteriorates easily and prevents a tight seal. Get new rings for one piece lids and new metal lids with sealing compound for two-piece lids.

Do not use overripe food. Products change in chemical composition with age and lose acidity. Make sure the food is of good quality, with no bruises or soft spots.

Do not overpack foods. Trying to get too much food into one jar may result in under-processing and spoilage.

Follow exactly the time and temperature specifications listed in instruction. Adjust processing time according to altitude.

Do not use canned foods showing signs of spoilage. Watch for bulging lids, leaks, off-odors or mold. If in doubt, don't taste. Destroy out of reach of children and pets.

For added safety, boil home canned vegetables for at least 10 minutes before serving.

If in doubt while canning, consult the county extension service, state experiment stations, or USDA publications in public libraries.

Mrs. Steers said copies of USDA's publications, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" may be obtained by sending 35 cents to: Consumer Information, Public Documents—Distribution Center, Pueblo, Colo.

Ritual modified

SANTOS, Brazil (UPI) — The meningitis epidemic in the state of Sao Paulo has forced Roman Catholic priests in Santos to modify the communion ritual.

In order to avoid contagion, priests are handing the wafers of the Eucharist to communicants instead of placing them, directly on the tongue.

The meningococcus bacteria is usually lodged in an individual's larynx and nasal passages and is easily transmitted either through coughing, sneezing or simply by breathing through the mouth.

The latest official figures released by the state health department indicate that in August at least 214 persons have died of meningitis while more than 1,700 persons are being treated for the disease in state hospitals.

The state health department is carrying out a massive vaccination program and taking steps to have the antimeningitis vaccine manufactured in Brazil.

Perky Alabama miss telephone lineman

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — The only thing that worries Sandy Johnson about being a telephone lineman is the splinters.

"When you're up on a pole and your spikes give you a little slide down and the splinters get all in your legs," she said. "All you can do is sit down and pick them out. Ooh, it hurts to even think about it."

That sort of thing hasn't happened to Sandy yet. She also admits that she is a little afraid of heights, but if the telephone company said, "Sandy, go climb that pole. I'd do it."

Sandy has worked for South Central Bell Telephone for nine years and up until two years ago was a business representative sitting behind a desk in a clean, air-conditioned office wearing dresses and talking to customers.

But she threw it over to work behind the wall wires and heavy cables under the sizzling heat of the south Alabama sun. "I think the big thing was the money. This sure pays a lot better and there was the challenge. I knew I could do it."

Most of the men she works with have little or no objection to women working on repair crews. Sandy said she has handled a heavy ladder down to her partner in a manhole. "I've never heard of any problems," Sandy said. "except when this girl was sent to Mobile one of the repairmen's wives made him leave. She told him, 'You're not going down in that little manhole with her.'"

But in South Alabama, where the idea of Southern Belles is still held in high regard—the sight of a woman on a telephone repair crew is still novel.

"I get wolf whistles and men-blow me kisses. Some people just stop right in the middle of the street and look at me. I almost caused two accidents yesterday."

5 MV men nominated

TWIN FALLS — Five Magic Valley area men have been nominated to Outstanding Young Men of America, according to officials of the publication.

Listed are Benny George, Nick Castleford, John Harris, Affleck, Twin Falls; Jeffrey Russell Cunningham, Twin Falls; J. Lamont Keen, Burley.

Barley and Richard William, Younce, Burley. The organization honors young men of exceptional abilities and achievements from across the country. Their biographies are printed in the annual awards volume sponsored by leading men's civic, service and professional organizations.

Angry villagers

ERDEVEN, France (UPI) — A beach at Erdeven, France, left 15 injured, tempers high and the issue of going naked unresolved.

What happened was that in 1969, the president of a nudist club applied to the mayor for permission for nudist families to use a section of beach. He says he got it.

Some people objected and a feud has gone on ever since. Things came to a head last weekend when 50 nudist families fenced off part of the beach, and stripped. Two hundred angry villagers, some armed with clubs, arrived to evict them.

Heated words were exchanged, then punches. Women had their hair pulled and a nudist's face was stomped on, and broken. None of the injuries was serious and police persuaded the nudists to get dressed.

"We have our wives and children on the beaches," said one of the anti-nudist residents of this Atlantic coast town. "The nudists—everything hanging out—that's fine at the North Pole or Norway, but we don't want them here."

BLM fire danger still high

SHOSHONE — Michael Green, public information officer for the Shoshone Bureau of Land Management, said Tuesday's fire danger in the district is high.

In reporting on the fire situation, Green continued to stress the danger. He said the dove season is open and the sage grouse season will open Sept. 14. He said the range is extremely dry and the public should use every care to prevent fires.

There are still 27 fire crew members, men and women, on the job at the Shoshone office. At the peak of the summer, there were 40.

The present crew includes three tankers and one shovel crew. Green said they will be maintained through the end of the current fire season, expected to run into mid-October.

The three lookout stations will be manned until about that time, also. Heavier rainfall earlier could shorten the season.

News Of Servicemen

FAIRFIELD — Jemmy Capt. Leo G. Jewett, son of Mrs. Helen L. Jewett, of Fairfield, received a safety award while serving with the 1st Cavalry Division at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Capt. Jewett received the award for flying military aircraft 2,000 accident-free hours.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Only by being charming to others are you able to turn the poor judgment and lack of brightness now to advantage. Tell others: know you are fond of them and give a smile everywhere. Then you eliminate much of the tensions present.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Be with congenials who can lighten your spirits and give you new enthusiasm. Forget private anxieties for a while since fretting could make you utterly ill.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Make sure the work you are doing today has real charm and shows true efficiency. Inaugurate some new methods that are good. Treat others kindly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Good day to look around the town for the right objects that will beautify the interior of your home. Avoid one who has a bone to pick.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You can easily gain efficiency on any endeavor now for greater benefits. A higher-up could be out of sorts; so treat wisely, kindly. Avoid any disputes.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Use a magnetic approach with one difficult to deal with for right results. Find the best way to cultivate new acquaintances you like.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Make improvements to property and possessions that add to value and beauty. Listen to suggestions of a wise person about how to improve your budget.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Planets favor pleasing a dynamic associate and gaining his support for your plans. Be at peace with everyone now since an unwary remark could touch off a volley of abuse.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): If you show affection for one from whom you desire data, you gain it very easily now. Ask one in trouble; this need not necessarily mean spending much money.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Out with those personalities socially who can help you climb financially. Stick close to one who understands your interests and can support your efforts.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Show one in power you are truly fond of him and gain the benefits possible through his influence now. Pay debts for improved future credit.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Put your new ideas in operation early if you are to gain the benefits of such. Gad about and see right people. Take it easy tonight — recoup from mad rush of day.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You are highly artistic and cultural minded now, so make the most of these gifts, gain the profits easily that were difficult before. New diet improves health.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have a heavenly outlook on life and be amenable to the beautiful and cultural, so provide a fine atmosphere in which to grow. The right kind of training in the right school and good business training to your most unusual and fine progeny can have fame and fortune. This can be a life that will benefit the masses. Permit to choose own religion.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Understand the coffee merchants are getting worried. Twenty years ago, two-out-of-three youngsters from 15 to 19 years old drank coffee. Today, only one out of three does so. Should be noted, I suppose, that soda-pop sales have jumped in a most spectacular manner, meanwhile.

"NOTHING succeeds like success." You've heard that ancient saying. But do you know how it originated? On Oct. 16-1846, doctors at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston first used ether to anesthetize a patient before surgery. Doubtless he said it wouldn't work. But it did, work, as all the world now knows. And a doctor there, whose name escapes, then delivered that nothing succeeds like.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "What's the most common crime among women?"

A. Hot checks. Those little numbers stamped "insufficient funds" outnumber the outright forgeries somewhat. And lawmen say that women over the age of 21 seem to be the most-susceptible to that thing called paper-hanging.

Q. "HOW MANY babies will be born in the next 24 hours?"

A. Figure about 350,000. If they all lived in the spot, they'd make a city about the size of Omaha.

Q. "I CHALLENGE the claim of those so-called experts who contend that certain trees cause 10 times as much air pollution as man and machine combined. What trees?"

A. Pine and sage, say the botanists.

TOOTH

Did I tell you every human tooth has at least 50 miles of canals in it?

SLEEP SPECIALISTS say most people spend more than 11 minutes at a time in unbroken motionless slumber.

LOUISIANA fishermen catch twice as many fish as Alaska fishermen. In fact, Louisiana fishermen catch more fish by far than the fishermen of any other state.

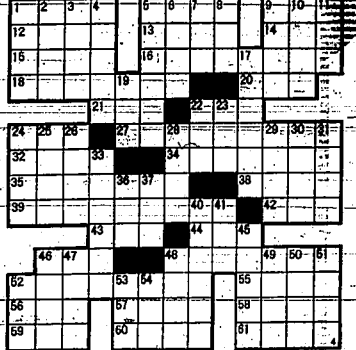

THAT WORD "hotdog" to describe a sausage cropped up first not in this country, but in Europe in the 13th century, bear in mind.

THOSE SCHOLARS who analyze the womanliness of women contend the most masculine of the ladies generally seem to be the best-educated. How do you explain that?
